RUSSIA AND EUROPE.

A PEACE CONVENTION IN JANUARY.

LONDON, November 29.—The Times contains a St. Petersburg dispatch of more pacific tone and notes a partial return of commercial activity. No collision between Russia and England is now probable. It is definitely stated that a meeting of the powers interested in the treaty of '56 shall take place in England in January.

The Times hopes the answer to Prince Gortschakoff will be firm and conciliatory. A protest from the Italian Government was sent to St. Petersburg on Saturday last.

IMPORTANT CABINET MEETING.

LONDON, November 28.—The Cabinet, after an unharmonious session to-day, broke up again without discussion, and will meet again on Wednesday. Gortschakoff's last bombshell has created terrible consternation, and the Cabinet at least feels disinclined to answer as speedily as Granville replied to his first question. The last Russian letter is withheld from the public, the Ministers being anxious to have their reply appear at the same time. A rumor is now prevailing that Lowe, Bright and Caldwell will go out of the Cabinet. They refuse to make war at any price, while Granville insists that Russia must be compelled to withdraw her letters before even a congress can be assented to by England. It is said the Council to-morrow will be presided over by the Queen. A formal meeting will be held for business, and will have no connection with Russian affairs.

Russia's reply is nervously and anxiously awaited. Rumors of Russia's willingness to submit to a congress are believed to be groundless.

WAR SIGNS.

The British Government has bought all the gun powder cotton in the market. Lead has advanced to £22 per ton.

The Financier says: Immense supplies of arms and munitions of war have arrived at the Russian ports in the Black Sea.

ENGLISH CABINET IN SESSION.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The World's special correspondent says: The Cabinet was in session from one until eight o'clock to-day. The result is unknown. At the close of the Council Earl Granville proceeded to Windsor to have another audience with the Queen.

NO REPORTS RECEIVED.

No reliable accounts as to the results of the fighting in the front and flanks of Gen. Aurilles received up to-day.

TURKISH AMBASSADOR INTERVIEWED.

The correspondent of the World had an interview to-day with the Turkish Ambassador. The Ambassador alluded to the fact that Russia for many years had paid court to the United States, and that therefore public opinion in America might be in favor of Russia. The Americans, however, now sympathize with the French Republic, and as the Russian cause is identified with the cause of Germany, the Americans may probably have occasion to transfer their sympathy to Turkey. Turkey permitted Admiral Farragut to enter the Euxine with an American frigate and Turkey will hail with delight any signs of the intention on the part of the United States to take a more active interest in European concerns, for the transcendent rectitude of her. (Turkey's) own intentions can only render every additional arbiter of her unsought quarrels a friend gained to her cause.

THE RUSSIAN QUESTION.

A Cabinet meeting was held here to-day, at which it was agreed that Prince Gortschakoff's last dispatch should not be considered as removing the question of Russia's demand from the sphere of diplomacy.

AUSTRIA PRESSES A SETTLEMENT.

The Vienna Cabinet is not unfavorable to a conference of the powers in principle, but presses a settlement of the preliminary question.

TURKEY NOT SCARED.

Dispatches from Constantinople say that the Sultan and Grand Vizier show no alarm at the present situation, counting on a peaceful solution of the controversy.

THE QUEEN BENT ON PEACE.

The Queen continues resolutely opposed to war. Earl Granville demands the presence of France at any conference on the Eastern Question. If this is insisted on, no conference can be held until peace is declared between France and Prussia. It is believed at the Prussian Legation in London that a conference is certain. Neutral powers will apply such pressure to France as will render it impossible for her to refuse to acquiesce.

A correspondent at Vienna, Nov. 28th, says Reports reach here that Bismarck, by direction of the King, has addressed a letter to Gortschakoff expressing the desire that Russia accept Prussia's mediation, pledging Prussia's influence to secure such modification of the treaty as will satisfy Russia.

GERMANY AND FRANCE.

BATTLE OF PASQUERS.

LONDON, 4 o'clock P. M., November 28.—The following details of an engagement between the Prussians under General Werder, and the French under General Garibaldi, near Pasquers in the department of the Vosges, is just received, dated Dijon, yesterday afternoon: The Garibaldians, while on their march from Pasquers, Saturday afternoon, suddenly came upon the outposts of the Prussian rifles which they immediately attacked with great impetuosity. The Prussians were at first compelled to fall back, but reinforcements coming up, the Garibaldians were in turn repulsed with great disorder, the soldiers throwing away their arms and knapsacks in their flight. General Werder next day (Sunday) took a circuit around [illegible], and in this way overtook the French rear guard.

Another engagement occurred, in which the French loss was [illegible] killed, with wounded and prisoners amounting to [illegible] men. It is said that Garibaldi had [illegible] men under his command in the engagement.

By the capitulation of La Fere, [illegible] of all sorts, fell into the hands of the Prussians.

WAR CREDIT GRANTED.

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—The North German Parliament has granted the extraordinary war credit demanded by the Government, by a vote of 178 yeas to 8 nays. The only opposition to the grant came from the Socialist and Democratic members.

RATIFICATION OF TREATY ANNOUNCED.

Minister Delbrueck announced to the House, to-day, the ratification by the Federal Council of the treaty for the union of the Kingdom of Wurtemburg with the Confederation. He stated that the adhesion of Bavaria would be considered on Wednesday. By the provisions of the treaty, Bavaria retains an independent military jurisdiction under the command of her King.

ATTEMPT TO KILL THE KING.

LONDON, November 28.—The evening papers contain a rumor that an attempt has been made by a Bavarian soldier to shoot King William of Prussia.

THE PRESS MUZZLED.

The publication of correspondence from the seat of war by the German newspapers has been prohibited.

KING WILLIAM IN DANGER.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—It has been ascertained that there is no truth in the report that an attempt had been made on the life of King William, but proofs of a dangerous conspiracy have been discovered. The affair is kept quiet, and no particulars have transpired. It is reported that the King and his staff have removed from Versailles to Meaux.

No trains are allowed to run on the railways between the rivers Seine and Loire, except for the transportation of troops and materials of war. No German troops are in the forest of Ardennes.

A siege train used at Thionville is on the way to Montmedy. The village of Vertigny near La Fere, was burned to the ground before the surrender of the fortress. Reports of German successes in the battles around Amiens are confirmed by a dispatch from King William, which however gives no particulars.

In the fight at Dury the Prussians had thirty thousand men engaged, not three thousand, as was reported in the London morning papers.

THE FALL OF AMIENS.

News has just been received that Amiens has been occupied by a division of Germans under General Von Groben. The following address was issued by the Prefect of the Department of Somme, previous to the occupation of the city: "Citizens, the day of trial has arrived. In spite of all our efforts Amiens must fall into the enemy's hands. The army of the North is retreating, and the National Guards disarming."

BATTLE IMMINENT.

LONDON, Nov. 27—3:30 A. M.—A grand battle is imminent, if, indeed not already in progress between Chateau Dun and Montargis. At last accounts from the army of the Loire, the French were bouyant and confident of the result. A detachment of 8,000 Prussians is reported at Chateau Regnault, 25 Kilometres from Tours. The German right occupies Montargis, still threatening the French in the forest of Cerbattes. Prince Frederick Charles' army has been strongly reinforced with field artillery.

[N. Y. Tribune Special.]

CONGRESS PROBABLE.

Dispatches from St. Petersburg, dated yesterday, announcing a probable congress, are confirmed. Prussia will agree to almost anything concerning the manner or place of conference. Russia is not likely to object to this proposal, which promises to secure to her all that she desires. A correspondent at Versailles writes, on the 26th, that the feeling there on the eastern question is that war is impossible.

NO SECRET TREATY.

The report of a secret Russo-Prussian treaty was premature. Whatever understanding may exist, any actual treaty can only be provided by meddling with the German right of conquest.

RAT MARKET IN PARIS.

The regular rat market has been established at the place Hotel de Ville. Elsewhere dogs and cats are exposed for sale.

PRUSSIANS DEMORALIZED.

The papers are filled with accounts of the losses and demoralization of the Prussians.

LATEST—Nov. 29—4:30 P. M.—The Daily Telegraph of this morning says that England and Austria have firmly but courteously denied Russia's right to withdraw from the treaty of 1856. The result has been evident in the lowering of the tone of the Russian peers, and it is quite probable that Russia may seek honorable retreat.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The Commander of the National Guards of St. Calais has been dismissed for preventing the defence of the place, and the Municipal Council has been dissolved.

The Commandant of Everux has been cashiered for surrendering the town to the enemy.

The Prussian percussion shells fail to explode on muddy ground.

CHRISTIANA, NORWAY, Nov. 28.—A balloon which left Paris on the 25th, descended here to-day with two passengers and a number of carrier pigeons. The aeronauts bring complete files of Paris papers up to the day of their departure and large quantities of official and private correspondence.

Railway Completed to Southwestern Missouri—A Mob of Lynchers Fired On and One of Them Killed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, November 28.—The Atlantic and Pacific Railroad has been completed to Neosho, Newton county, in the extreme southwestern portion of the State, and will be opened for traffic the latter part of this week. Neosho is three hundred and eleven miles from St. Louis. The road is in fine condition, and will be pushed rapidly on into the Indian territory and across the plains.

The Republican has a special from Potosi, stating that great excitement has existed there since the arrival of John Armstrong and Charles Jolly, who murdered the Lapine family in that vicinity. Some days ago threats of lynching them were made, and Sheriff Breckenridge stationed twenty-five men, armed with double barrel guns, at the court house, a few steps from the jail where the prisoners were confined, determined to suppress any attempts that might be made in that direction. About one o'clock on Sunday morning, some forty men appeared at the jail and demanded the assassins. The sheriff replied he should protect the prisoners against violence, and ordered the crowd to disperse, which not being obeyed, a volley was fired over their heads. Several shots were then fired by the mob, but without effect. This fire was returned by the posse, and one of the mob was killed. The crowd then dispersed. The sheriff has strengthened his force, and no further effort at violence has been made.

Extreme Military Excitement—A Dead Lock in the Government—Conflict between Civil and Military Authorities.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MONTGOMERY, November 28.—The city is full of excitement, and the wheels of the State Government are entirely locked. Smith and Bingham still claim to be Governor and Treasurer respectively, and each retains possession of the offices. Smith has obtained a number of troops from the commanding officer here and they are posted at the front of the entrance to the Executive room of the Treasurer's room.

The Senate met and adjourned, and the House passed the following resolution:

Resolved, The Senate concurring, that a committee of six, consisting of three from the Senate and three from the House, be appointed to ascertain, without delay, upon whose application, by whose order and for what purpose said military force was quartered in this capitol, and that the General commanding desist from further proceedings until the report of said committee be received and acted upon.

Only two Republicans voted against this resolution.

Railway Collision.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 28.—Between eight and nine o'clock this evening at a point two miles beyond Lagrange, Ky., on the old line of the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad, a regular freight train, bound west was run into by an extra freight going in the same direction. The engineer, James Cavens, and fireman, Samuel Bonta, were instantly killed. A number of drovers accompanying stock were badly wounded—reports say ten. Of the wounded only the name of Wood is known. Loss of stock not known. Particulars as to the cause of the disaster and estimated damage have not been received.

A report is just received, (1 A. M. 29th) saying that the wounded are well cared for at the house of Reuben Fisher, near the wreck. All the physicians of La Grange have gone to attend them.

Murdered for Money.

[By Telegraph to Pittsburgh Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 28.—An old and respected citizen of Saluda township, a few miles from Madison, Ind., was found dead in his house on Sunday afternoon, having been murdered on Friday. He was a bachelor, living alone. The object of the murder supposed to be money. Wm. F. Fleming suspected of the deed, was seen leaving the neighborhood, riding a mare and wearing an overcoat belonging to the murdered man. A large reward is offered for the arrest of Fleming. The Madison Courier gives the following description of Fleming: About twenty-five or thirty years of age, five feet seven inches high, and weighing about one hundred and forty-five pounds; light complexion, light hair, blue eyes and speech quiet.

Report of Commissioner Delano—Satisfactory Statistics from the Internal Revenue Department—Increase of Receipts from the Excise Tax—Facts and Figures About Distilled Spirits—The "Odious" Forty-eight Hour Mash Now Popular—Tobacco Taxes—Defects in the Act—General Resume and Comparison.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28, 1870.

The report of Hon. Columbus Delano, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, was given to the representatives of the press to-day. It contains many important facts and recommendations. The Commissioner says that the estimate submitted in his annual report for 1869, of the probable receipts from internal revenue, exclusive of the direct tax upon lands, and the duty upon the circulation and deposits of National Banks for the fiscal year of 1870, has been more than realized. The estimate was $175,000,000, and the aggregate receipts under the then existing laws are shown to be $185,235,867.97, an excess of $10,235,867.97 beyond the estimate. This aggregate includes the sums refunded for taxes illegally assessed and collected, amounting to $196,809.81, as well as the amount of commissions collections. The total receipts for the first six months of 1870 are $84,468,288.57, and for the like period of 1869 were $69,184,725.13, being an increase of 22 per cent., or a total increase of $15,283,563.44. The total receipts of the last six months of 1870 are $100,767,579.40, and for the like period of 1869, $90,854,619.16, an increase of 11 per cent. or a total increase of $9,912,960.24. A comparative statement is here submitted, from which it appears that the total receipts for the fiscal year 1869 were $160,030,344.29, showing a net gain for the present year of $25,205,523.68.

INCREASE OF RECEIPTS.

From the foregoing statement it will be seen that there has been continuous increase in receipts from the excise tax from June 30, 1870, aggregating the sum of $25,196,522.68. These figures and the deductions therefrom satisfy the Commissioner that there is no insurmountable difficulty in enforcing our excise laws. The employment of spies and informers and the policy of paying moieties, in his opinion, are no longer necessary, and this revenue service would be improved by discontinuing them. He recommends that the detectives be continued under the title of Assistant Supervisors.

NUMBER OF DISTILLERS.

The number of distillers other than fruit registered during the last fiscal year is 770; number of fruit distillers registered is 2,120. Total, 2,890. The spirit producing capacity of the registered distilleries for each twenty-four hours, as ascertained by survey, is as follows: From grain, 759,377 gals.; from molasses, 24,000; from fruit, 126,271; total daily spirit producing capacity, 910,551 gals. The returns to this office for the last fiscal year show a total production in taxable gallons from material other than fruit of 71,337,099; from fruit, 938,254; from fruit not yet returned but estimated, 150,000; total yearly production, 72,425,353 gals. The Commissioner says the production of spirits from fruit is likely to be largely increased for the present year, owing to the extensive crop of fruit grown in many parts of the United States, and because the act of July has relieved manufacturers from many of the requirements applicable to grain distillation, which, when applied to fruit, were found to be burdensome. The quantity of spirits in July 1st, 1869, was 16,685,166 gallons. The quantity entered in bond for the year ending June 30, 1870, was 71,337,099; the quantity withdrawn from bond during the last period was 76,539,307; quantity remaining in bond July 1st, 1870, was 11,682,458; the quantity remaining in bond July 1, 1869 in excess of the quantity stated in his report for 1869, as shown by corrected reports of collectors, received subsequent to the publication of the report for 1869 is 21,128.

SATISFACTORY PLAN.

The Commissioner thinks there will be no material falling off in the production of spirits during the current fiscal year. The plan of surveying distilleries on the basis of a forty-eight hour fermenting period for sweet mash, to which attention was called in his annual report, has fully been carried out, and its results are highly satisfactory and advantageous to the Government. The distillers now very generally seem to be disposed to obey the law and compel the orders and regulations of the Bureau in regard to the selection and adoption of the same saccharometer. The Commissioner says the result of the investigations made are favorable to the selection of a standard article and its use by the Internal Revenue officers having direct supervision of distilleries. There is no authority of law for procuring this instrument, and he therefore recommends that Congress grant the Commissioner the necessary authority to do so.

IMPOLICY OF CHANGING THE LAW.

The experience of the past year has served to strengthen the Commissioner's previous opinion as to the impolicy of changing the law taxing spirits, and induces him to repeat the recommendation in his last annual report, that the rate of tax and manner of its collection be left as they are now provided for. The receipts from this source for 1870 are $56,581,599.18, already within four and a half millions of his estimate after the present law shall have been brought into complete execution, with such amendments as time and experience may demonstrate to be necessary to perfect the system.

TOBACCO STATISTICS.

The receipts from tobacco continue to be highly satisfactory. The receipts for the last fiscal year from this source are $31,350,707.88. For the preceding year they were $23,430,707.57, showing an increase of $7,920,000.31. This increase of nearly $8,000,000 has not been spasmodic, but is a regular monthly increase, averaging over $660,000 per month. The late crop of tobacco was an inferior one, owing to a general drought in many of the tobacco-growing districts. The Commission calls attention to what he thinks a defect in the law by which great inequalities exist, and he claims that there is but one remedy for the frauds perpetrated, and that is to make the tax on all descriptions of tobacco uniform. Less inequality would exist under a tax of thirty-two cents per pound than under the present rates. With this uniform rate on all manufactured tobacco, the revenue can be collected with much greater facility than at present. He is also satisfied that the honest and larger portion of the tobacco trade are generally in favor of a uniform rate or tax on all descriptions and grades of manufactured tobacco, while a portion of the trade favor a tax of 6 cents, a large majority are indifferent as to the rate, whether it be 16 or 32 cents per pound. Provided the tax is uniform, it is thoroughly collected, and the manufacturer left free to manipulate his product as he pleases. There are fifteen export bonded warehouses for the storage of manufactured tobacco in bond for exportation. These are all in the eastern cities, except one at New Orleans and one at San Francisco. Repeated applications have been made for additional warehouses, but believing that it was the design of Congress not only to abolish the old system of class warehouses for tobacco and Tariff, but to limit the facilities for binding to such goods as were in fact intended for exportation, and also believing that the distinguishing feature of the present law is that which made it radically different from previous laws on the subject of manufactured tobacco, was the pre-payment of the tax by means of stamps, before the removal of goods from the place of manufacture. The Commissioner has denied these applications for the reason that the number of bonded warehouses already established, greatly exceeds that actually required to accommodate the export trade. The whole amount of tobacco stored away in these warehouses is $19,613,529 pounds; withdrawn for exportation 8,398,007 pounds; withdrawn upon payment of tax 12,008,377 pounds. Only about two-fifths of the goods bonded are actually exported, the balance not being intended for foreign markets. The fact is the goods are shipped by manufacturers in bond, and being stored are consigned to wholesale dealers and jobbers, thus securing to the latter the advantage of placing the goods upon the market without the pre-payment of the tax, as the law requires in all other cases before the removal of goods from the manufactory. By shipping these goods in bond, the dealers and jobbers receive, on an average, from four to five months credit, and as this privilege can only be enjoyed by dealers and jobbers in the seaport towns, where by law these warehouses are authorized to be established, it creates an inequality in the trade, prefering one class of dealers over others, and is the cause of much complaint.

AMENDMENT RECOMMENDED.

To remedy this inequality, and correct the evils of this system, I would recommend that the law be so amended as to allow no goods entered for export in bonded merchandise to be withdrawn therefrom for consumption upon payment of tax, until twelve months from the time they were so bonded. By limiting time for withdrawal, no goods will be entered, except such as are actually intended for export, and the privilege of withdrawing for consumption after twelve months, will relieve any parties who, having entered goods for export, fail afterwards to export the same. Should it be deemed inexpedient to limit the time before which permits for the withdrawal of goods on the payment of tax are not to be issued by the Collector, then I would suggest that further authority be given to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, to establish bonded warehouses at other places than ports of entry, giving like facilities for vending and equal time before payment of taxes to wholesale dealers and jobbers in manufactured tobacco in other large cities.

DEFECTS OF THE ACT.

The Commissioner calls attention to the defects and contradictions in the act of July 14th, 1870, incident to closing the labors of the session. It is believed to have been the intention to retain all taxes imposed upon sales of distilled spirits, wines and malt liquors, by the act of July 20, 1868 and acts amendatory thereof. Section two of the act of July 14th, 1870, nevertheless repeals the tax upon sales of malt liquors. It was evidently the purpose of section five to empower the collectors to retain, at any time prior to August 1st, 1875, all penalties for issuing instruments unstamped, unless the omission of the stamps was with fraudulent intent. But owing to a change in the bill, as reported by the Senate Finance Committee, the letter of the law is such as to postpone, until August, 1881, the relief which was designed to be immediate. It is believed to have been the intention to continue the five per cent. tax until August 1870, and substitute a tax of two and a half per cent. therefor on and after that date. But owing to the peculiar language of the Senate, no tax can be withheld from coupons falling due during the last five calender months.

DIVIDEND TAXES.

According to a recent decision of the Circuit Court in Pennsylvania in the case of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company vs. Barnes, Collector, no tax can be withheld from dividends and coupons on interest payable during the first seven months of 1870, and it is further maintained that corporations cannot be required to pay any taxes upon dividends payable during the remaining five months.

The right to withhold the tax from salaries of persons in the civil, military, or naval service of the United States during the first seven months of 1870 turns also upon points involved in this case. The amount of tax indirectly involved in this question is $6,000,000. It is of such importance that I have not felt at liberty to acquiesce in the decision of the Circuit Court until it shall have been affirmed by the Court of last resort.

TECHNICAL EVASION.

Steps have been taken therefore, to have the opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States pronounced upon questions in issue. The repeal of the tax upon receipts for money, includes, practically, a repeal of the tax upon demand and sight drafts, bank checks, and a person who has money on deposit, instead of drawing by check, receives the money and gives his receipt which is retained by the bank as a voucher. This practice is increasing, and seems likely to become general. While it is an evasion of taxes it is also one for which the present law provides no remedy.

The repeal of the special tax upon apothecaries, takes effect May 1st, 1871, and after that time they must either abandon the dispensing and sale of wines and spirits officially upon physicians' prescriptions, or otherwise, or pay special taxes as liquor dealers, unless there shall be additional legislation on the subject. So far as they are concerned, the act of July 14th, 1870, increases the taxes.

DIRECT TAXATION.

The law of August the 5th, 1861, apportioning a direct tax of $20,000,000 per annum among the States and territories, has been complied with by all except Delaware, the territory of Colorado and the eleven insurrectionary States. Subsequent legislation provided for collecting this tax in Delaware and Colorado by the internal revenue officer, and in the eleven insurrectionary States by the appointment of United States Commissioners. While the quota of the eleven insurrectionary States was $5,153,891, there is still uncollected $2,-861,782.82. The Commissioner suggests the expediency of Congress making provision for the final disposition of all lands which have been acquired and are now owned by the United States, under direct laws at an early day.

LITIGATION.

The number of cases compromised during the year ending June 30th, was 472, for which there was received $926,274.25.

During the year the whole number of suits commenced by Government attorney's, was 5,743; number of suits decided in favor of the United States 2,555; against the United States 241; number of suits pending July 1st 4,131; amount of judgments recovered $1,296,354.32.

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS.

Total, $111,418,-

The foregoing table exhibits the amount which it is estimated will be annually realized from all sources of internal revenue, except stamps, after the law of July, 1870, shall have gone into full operation. The total amount $8,111,418 estimating additional receipts from stamps at $15,000,000. There will be a total of $126,418. The table is arranged according to the revenue value of the states respectively. The total of this estimate may be increased greatly, in proportion to the increase of population. Business and wealth, but probably not to exceed five per cent. On the basis of this estimate the States of New York, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and Kentucky, will contribute $70,706,-220.88, or 63 per ct. of the entire receipts exclusive of stamps.

COMPARATIVE ESTIMATE.

The Commissioner gives a comparative statement showing receipts from the several general sources of revenue for the period of a year and a half. The total from September 1867 to February 28th, 1869, eighteen months, was $241,820,705; and from March 1st, 1869 to August 31st, 1870, eighteen months, was $255,-492,817. The Commissioner adds, that from this statement, it will be seen that the gross receipts from all sources of Internal Revenue for the first eighteen months of the late administration are increased to the amount of $49,672,061.09, and taking the same sources of revenue the excess during the same period of comparison in favor of the present administration, amounts to the sum of $101,888,071.73.

REVENUE SEIZURES.

The deputy collector of customs at Brownsville, Texas, recently seized the American schooner Rebecca, at Brazos, for being engaged in illegitimate traffic. On the following day the Mexican Consul at Brownsville claimed the schooner, as already under seizure by the Mexican Government, which will probably demand her release.

THE COMING MESSAGE.

It is not probable that the President's annual message will be printed in advance of its delivery to Congress, in order to guard additionally against any unauthorized and premature publication.

MAIMED SOLDIERS.

Since the 1st of July last upwards of 800 maimed soldiers applied for the benefits of Negley's Act of Congress, making provision for artificial limbs or for money commutation.

In answer to Schneck's question—what do Free Traders want, he would reply in words of Lincoln when asked what the Republican party wanted to do in the case of slavery. His reply was that he would put it in a position to satisfy the sentiments of the people. Letters were read from the Hon. Lucius Robinson, Hon. R. P. Myers, Judge Brady, Mayor Hall, Governor Hoffman, Hon. Wm. B. Allison, Gen. Slocum, Charles F. Adams, Dr. Woolsey, President of Yale College, Hon. John Q. Adams, Gen. McClellan, George T. He gave her a blow on the head with his ax, and was about pulling her out when he was surprised to see two large cubs just back of their mother. He pulled the old one out, and was dispatching the cubs, when out jumped another old bear, which, before Mr. Kimball could finish the cubs, made good his escape.

SEWICKLEY.

Sabbath Day, and How it was Spent—Exercises in the Presbyterian, Episcopal and Methodist Churches.

[From our own Correspondent.]

SEWICKLEY, Nov. 28, 1870.

Yesterday was a beautiful Sabbath. The day was delightful—warm, sun-bright and clear, the air as balmy as Spring. Your correspondent attended the Presbyterian church in the morning, and listened to an able and eloquent sermon by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Bittinger, DD., subject, "Prejudice." Text. John, 1st chapter, 43 to the 46th verse: "The day following, Jesus would go forth into Galilee, and findeth Philip, and saith unto him, follow me. Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter. Philip findeth Nathanael, and saith unto him: We have found him of whom Moses in the law and the prophets did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph."

And Nathaniel said unto him. "Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip saith unto him, come and see." In the afternoon we attended the Protestant Episcopal Church and heard an excellent sermon by the Rev. Barrow, formerly of Bedford, Pa.; text, 1 Corinthians, 13th chapter and 13th verse—"And now abideth Faith, Hope, Charity, these three; but the greatest of these is Charity." Rev. Earp, the retiring Rector, administered the rite of Baptism.

He concluded by bidding farewell to his parishioners in a short but heartfelt and eloquent address, that will not be forgotten soon by his friends.

In the evening we visited the Methodist E. Church. The pulpit was occupied by Rev. William H. Locke, of Beaver, a former pastor of the church in this place. His numerous friends were delighted to see him, and gave him large and appreciative congregations. The morning sermon we heard spoken of as a fine effort. Of the evening sermon we can speak for ourselves. Taking for his text the words of St. Paul—"For I have learned in whatsoever state I am therewith to be content." We had an exquisite elaboration of Mr. Locke's [illegible] Contentment. Many [illegible] Christian virtue [illegible] and power, passages were of thrilling beauty [illegible]. The recitation of the old poem of "Cleon and I," near the close, seemed to fix the discourse, and give to the sermon an impressiveness not soon to be effaced. Your readers are all familiar with the lines, but may not, for all that object to seeing them printed in this connection:

Cleon hath a million acres,—
Ne'er a one have I;
Cleon dwelleth in a palace,—
In a cottage I.
Cleon hath a dozen fortunes,—
Not a penny I;
But the poorer of the twain is
Cleon, and not I.

Cleon, true, possesseth acres,—
But the landscape I;
Half the charms to me it yieldeth
Money cannot buy.
Cleon harbors sloth and dullness,—
Freshening vigor I;
He in velvet, I in fustian,—
Richer man am I.

Cleon is a slave to grandeur,—
Free as thought am I;
Cleon fees a score of doctors,—
Need of none have I.
Wealth surrounded, care environed
Cleon fears to die;
Death may come: he'll find me ready,—
Happier man am I.

Cleon sees no charms in nature,—
In a daisy I;
Cleon hears no anthem ringing
In the sea and sky.
Nature sings to me forever,—
Earnest list'ner I;
State for state, with all attendants,—
Who would change? Not I.

EDUCATIONAL.

Robinson Township Teachers' Institute.

EDITORS GAZETTE: The Robinson Township Teachers' Institute, met at No. 4, Hall's School House, on Saturday. The school was in session during the forenoon and the scholars recited their lessons and performed their parts well. Messrs. Wilkinson, Hollands and Shaw addressed the school, giving the little folks some excellent advice. Mr. Mathew Harbison, one of the patrons of the school, made some humorous and pleasing remarks contrasting the "palaces" which the children and the teachers of that township occupied now, with the log cabins in which the children got their education when he was a boy. Mr. H. said he was well pleased with the progress of the school and thought the teacher, Mr. Tomer, was doing his duty, faithfully and well.

An hour's intermission was had and a bountiful repast was served up by the ladies of the district. Sprightly conversation, vocal music, &c., was then in order until the hour arrived for convening the Institute.

The exercises of the Institute opened with a lecture by Mr. J. B. Hollands, on the subject of "Time and Its Effects." The lecture was a good one, and showed that the speaker had given the subject considerable thought and attention.

The next performance was a class drill in Mental Arithmetic. Mr. Phillips being the teacher. Difficult problems were propounded, reproduced, analyzed and answered, at a rattling rate. The class was composed of Miss. McQuitty and Messrs. Hollands, Snodgrass, Van Tyne, Shaw and Wilkinson.

Miss Kate McQuitty read in an admirable manner Mrs. Heman's beautiful poem, "Bernardo del Carpio." This was followed by a debate on the question, "Should there be a law passed requiring parents to send their children to school every day during the school term?" and was argued affirmatively by Mr. Van Tyne and negatively by Mr. Snodgrass. Mr. Van Tyne undoubtedly had the best side of the question, and produced some excellent arguments. Mr. Snodgrass is a pleasant speaker, but on this occasion seemed inclined to debate the question in a "spread eagle" way.

The regular debate being closed, miscellaneous remarks were called for, and Mr. J. B. Hollands responded, giving some ideas on the affirmative.

The next meeting of the Institute will be held at "Kansas" school-house, so named because of some trouble which boiled over there about the time the Border Ruffians boiled over into Kansas territory.

The Institutes of Robinson are certainly successes. The teachers are not only improving themselves, but they are doing a good work for their scholars, and they deserve to be encouraged. Yours truly,

O. PHIDDLE STYX.

Accident to a Pleasure Party—A Turnout Demolished—A Lady Hurt.

This morning about half past one o'clock Fifth avenue was the scene of a frightful runaway accident. A pleasure party, consisting of five persons, the Misses Johnson, and a lady companion whose name could not be ascertained, together with Messrs. J. M. Fahnestock and Hiram Rodgers, were coming down the avenue in a two horse barouche. Just opposite the Cathedral the animals frightened, and started off at a gallop. They were perfectly unmanageable in the hands of Mr. Rodgers who sat in the front seat, and one of his companions reached forward to take the reins. This caused the horses to run to one side and the result was a smashup. The hind wheel caught in an iron awning post in front of the Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph office, near Wood street, and the hind axle was torn away. The remainder of the vehicle with the occupants stopped at the telegraph pole a few feet off, a complete wreck. There was hardly a sound piece of timber a foot in length that remained. The horses broke loose and started off with the tongue and harness. Mr. Rodgers was thrown about twenty feet forward, but escaped serious injury. One of the Miss Johnsons had her left arm dislocated at the shoulder. The others were more frightened than hurt, although their escape seems miraculous. The injured lady was carried into the telegraph office, and Dr. Murdoch summoned, who reset her arm, after which she was taken home.

The horses were not secured at last accounts. The loss of the vehicle will amount to several hundred dollars, but all of the party are exceedingly fortunate to get away without a loss of life.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—As we anticipated, there was a large and select audience at the Opera House last evening to hear Mr. Emmett, in the amusing comedy of "Fritz, our Cousin German." This is Mr. Emmett's second season in his present line of business, and we doubt if any man has ever met with such marked success in the theatrical line in so short a time, starting in a role entirely new and novel. His engagement in this city one year since, was the initial step to his present popularity as an actor. The piece was well put upon the stage last evening and rendered with fine effect. It will be repeated this evening.

THEODORE THOMAS.—Few of our readers who had the pleasure of hearing the grand instrumental concert given by Theodore Thomas and his troupe of artists last season have forgotten the delight experienced on that occasion, and we doubt if there is one person who had that pleasure, but will be rejoiced at an opportunity of attending another. That opportunity, we are pleased to announce, will be presented at Library Hall next week, when Mr. Thomas, with his forty-four distinguished artists will give four entertainments, commencing Wednesday evening. The sales of season tickets will take place at Kleber & Bro.'s music store Thursday, December 1st, and the sale of tickets for separate concerts will begin Friday morning the 29th of Dec.

MCCAFFREY CONCERT.—The music-loving population of our community, and it has been fully demonstrated to be no small portion, will be delighted with the announcement that we are to have another of those charming McCaffrey concerts on Friday evening next at Library Hall. The Misses Caroline and Helen McCaffrey, both well known as talented singers, assisted by Mdm. Henrietta Behrens, of New York, Messrs. George Simpson and J. G. Russell, will offer a programme consisting of selections from the best masters of music. The concert is given for the benefit of the poor, and the house will doubtless be crowded to its utmost capacity. Tickets can be procured of Barr & Knake, No. 12 Sixth street, after Wednesday morning.

LIBRARY HALL.—Rev. W. H. Milburn, the blind preacher, one of the most eloquent speakers in the country, will deliver the next lecture of the course before the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association, at Library Hall, Thursday evening; subject, "Aaron Burr." The house should be crowded to hear this gifted and eloquent man.

DRUMMER BOY.—The first military allegory of the "Drummer Boy of Shiloh" which was produced here on two former occasions with such marked success, will be repeated for a short season at the Academy of Music, commencing Monday evening.

VARIETIES.—The celebrated equistrian artist, Miss Kate Fisher, commenced an engagement at the Varieties last evening. The house, as usual, was filled to its utmost capacity, and doubtless will be so long as Miss Fisher's engagement continues.

ACADEMY.—The Ravel-Martinnetti Combination Troupe commenced an engagement at the Academy of Music last evening under very flattering circumstances. The house was well filled and the entertainment was of a most excellent and enjoyable character.

FAIRS.—The Fifth avenue M. E. Church Fair, at City Hall, has so far proven a success, financially. It is a pleasant place to spend an evening.

THE attendance at the Point Chapel and St. Bridget Fairs continues good, and the attractions are as great as ever.

History will tell that when Louis Napoleon set out on his intended march to Berlin his commissariat was wretchedly supplied. Not a barrel of Pier, Dannals & Co.'s Cream Ale was found in the whole vast army. The disasters that followed are a terrible commentary on this strange neglect.

THE Portsmouth (Ohio) Republican says The Lower Rolling Mill will be offered to sale on the 10th day of December, after which it is hoped it may go into active operation.

THE Erie city iron works have commenced the erection of an addition to their already extensive boiler shops, upon the north end of the main shop, which is to be forty by eighty feet.

THE manufacture of boxes for grapes has become quite a business. One firm in Western New York has made more than three hundred thousand such boxes during the last season.

THE New York Mill at Holyoke, Mass., has been purchased by A. T. Stewart, together with a large amount of manufacturing stock belonging to Samuel Hanna, of New York; and the mill is to be called "A. T. Stewart & Co's. mill."

"THE Otis Iron Company, at Sharon, Pa., have commenced the building of a railroad bridge across the Shenango, opposite their works, for the purpose of connecting their establishments by switch with that of the A. & G. W. track.

THE Putnam Manufacturing Company (Ballou Mill) are putting in ten more spinning frames which will give adequate preparation for their three hundred and fifty looms. Nearly all the valuable space in this mill is now occupied with machinery.

THE Bartlet Mill, at Newburyport, Mass. recently spun in one week 16,000 pounds of cotton and wove 63,000 yards, which made 1,585 cuts—a larger week's work than the mill has ever before accomplished, 1,050 cuts having been rather above the average.

"THE Glass Thread Manufacturing Company" is the name of a new corporation starting business in Rockville, Conn., with William Hunt as agent. The company having leased rooms in Dart's new mill, got their machinery the past week, and will soon be in operation.

MESSRS. C. G. HUSSEY & Co. employ in their copper works a shear for cutting sheet copper which makes a cut seventy-eight inches long. Moorhead & Co. have shears of the same pattern. Lyon, Shorb & Co. employ a shear which cuts an iron plate five-eighths of an inch thick and nine feet long at a single cut.

THE Brazil, Ind., Miner, says: "The Planet Furnace was "blown in" on Wednesday of last week, being the first in the field to commence operation since the end of the "strike." They are now turning out a large quantity of iron, said to be of a quality better than any heretofore made at that furnace."

THE Greensburg, O., Independent says that the Laurel furnace is being rebuilt by its former owners, Messrs. R. Scott & Co., and it is thought will be ready for operations in the course of a few weeks. The loss caused by the burning of the furnace, we are pleased to know, will not exceed $4,000, instead of $20,-000 as reported.

AT the locomotive works in Manchester, N. H., during the year ending October 1st, the castings amounted to 2,000,000 pounds. It is said to be a day's work for a man, with an assistant, to make a driving wheel, the weight of which is 1,500 pounds, sometimes ranging as high as 1,800. At these works one man has turned out his wheel a day for 774 consecutive working days.

AMONG the incorporation papers filed in the State Department of California last week was that of the Pacific File Works, for the manufactures of files, reaper and mower sections and steel. Principal place of business, San Francisco. Capital stock, $150,000; divided into 1,500 shares of $100. Trustees, Thomas Nelson, C. J. Pilsbury, John G. Tewing, James W. Shanklin and James Linford.

HARRIS, BLACKFORD & Co., iron manufacturers, at Niles, Ohio, made an assignment on the 12th. The Mahoning Courier says: "We have not heard of their liabilities, nor their assets, but give the Independent credit for the statement, 'with another management the company can pay all liabilities.' Mr. C. H. Andrews, of our city, holds a mortage of some $80,000 on the rolling mill, so we were informed."

THE Greencastle, Ind., nail factory is being enlarged. An addition is being made in the rear of the building, to which the grindstones have been removed, and seven new nail machines have been ordered to occupy the space vacated by them. This will give the factory a capacity of 225 kegs of nails a day, 1350 kegs a week. It will also increase the number of employes to about 100. At present 165 kegs of nails are made daily.

A NEW wrought iron furnace has been invented and patented by George G. Thomas, of St. Louis, to be used for either wood or coal. This is stated to give twice the radiating heat of ordinary furnaces. Among its claimed advantages are, that it is constructed of fire brick nine inches thick, and wrought iron: that it is free from all smoke and gasses; economy of fuel and ease of management—requiring attention but once in twelve hours.

THE new cotton mill at New Orleans is of brick, one-storied, 225x125 feet, and contains, besides other machines, 3,360 spindles and sixty looms, with room to double machinery, which is all of English manufacture, and will turn out 2,000 yards of cloth daily. At present there are employed about thirty-five hands in the factory. The wages paid to the operatives range from forty cents to $1.50 per day, some of the women getting the latter figure. They propose to increase to 21,000 spindles as soon as possible.

THE pipe works recently erected by Long, Smith & Co., Columbus, O., occupy four acres of ground. Capacity for melting 50 tons of iron per day. Will employ 100 hands in the foundry. Main building is 110x165 feet. Cleaning vault 60x100 feet. The story is 26½ feet in the clear. The cone is 56 feet. The building is frame, with slate roof. The moulding pits are constructed with steam crank attachment. The ovens, cupolas, &c., are the most approved construction. The firm will commence operations November 19.

THE new blast furnace of the Columbus Iron Company will go into blast in about ten days. This furnace is one of the largest and best constructed in the country. The stack house is 184x60 feet. Crushing house 40x80 feet, brick, covered with iron. There is a double trestle running through the stack house. The stack is 60 feet, with 14 feet bosh; 6 tuyeres with Pollock's double hot blast. In the engine room we find a large vertical engine. The upright steam cylinder is 32 inches, with four feet stroke. There is an iron air receiver 8 feet in diameter and 26 feet long. Also two steam pumps for elevating water to a tank holding 300 barrels at the top of the hoisting house. This furnace has capacity for melting 30 to 35 tons per day.

TUESDAY, NOV. 29, 1870.

BONDS at Frankfort 9[illegible].

Gold closed, in New York yesterday at [illegible].

THE German Americans of New Orleans voted almost in a body for the Republican ticket at the late election. Hitherto they have warmly espoused the cause of Democracy, but the Democratic journals took such open ground in sympathy with France and against Prussia, that the Germans voted the straight Republican ticket.

THE necessity of the care and caution that should be exercised in the preparation of tickets to be voted at elections, is illustrated by the result in the tenth Senatorial District of Illinois. Mr. Michael Donahue, the Republican candidate in the late election, was defeated by an error. The name of "Patrick" Donahue was placed on some tickets, it is said through the error of a friend, and six hundred and eighty ballots were cast, which had they been properly prepared would have elected Michael to the Senate by at least one hundred of a majority. We suppose Michael does not feel in the best of humors with his friend.

THE RESIGNATION of John Bright from the English Ministry would be a sad loss to the Administration. It is reported, however, that he has resigned. We can scarcely accept the report with confidence, for it has already been stoutly asserted that the peace party had the ascendency in the Cabinet. If this be true there would be little reason in the resignation of Mr. Bright, on the ground that "he had exercised his influence against the war with Russia, and that his failure to make his views operative led to his resignation." If Mr. Bright has resigned we question very strongly the ascendency of the peace party in the Cabinet. In connection with the resignation of John Bright, it is said that Earl Russell is to take a place in the Cabinet. This old valetudinarian, as full of thunder as a powder magazine, had, for the best interests of England, better be kept out of the Cabinet, or England will have the whole of 1854 to do all over again, if she be able to do so.

MICHIGAN AMENDMENT.

The vote on the Amendment to the Michigan State Constitution, to strike out the word "white" and thus make it agree with that of the United States, is a commentary on the frequent assertions of the Democratic journals, that the negro suffrage question was a cause for many Republicans voting the Democratic ticket. As instance of this, Michigan has been frequently referred to. The Republican majority in that State was about fifteen thousand, while the majority for the Amendment, if it is carried at all, will not be more than thirteen hundred. This is pointed to as a fair illustration of the repugnance Republican voters have for negro suffrage, and in some instances journals have gone so far as to assert that the returns showed a defection among the Republicans of nearly fifteen thousand votes. So far however from this being true, the only votes against the Amendment were Democratic. This is proven by the fact, that in nearly every county, the negative vote on the suffrage clause, is about the same, or if anything a little less, that the Democratic vote in the same counties for State officers. Nearly every Democrat voted against the Amendment, while many Republicans did not vote at all. The question was one says the Detroit Post, "that was really of no practical importance, and if lost, it has been lost through the indifference of those friendly to its embodied principles. So far as Michigan was concerned it was a dead issue."

PEACE.

Our telegrams are frequently so utterly inconsistent as though they had been prepared with a special view to that purpose. It must be remembered, however, that these telegrams come from many different points. As late as the 27th inst., we had a telegram asserting that the English Cabinet was in danger of an immediate rupture, and that Gortschakoff's note was considered decidedly bad, and nothing more than the first circular couched in different language. That Russia still maintained her position that she will be no longer bound by her treaty of 1856. That Count Caticazy, the Russian Minister, now in New York, stated that Russia would not recede one jot from the position she has taken in regard to the treaty of 1856, and that England must comply with the demands of Gortschakoff, or war was inevitable. These telegrams come from London and New York. On the 26th, however, we have from Versailles, via Berlin and London, a positive assurance that the Black sea question was positively in course of amicable settlement, and that Constantinople and St. Petersburg having been rejected as the seat of the proposed conference, London was agreed upon. Now, we would like to believe this, but really we do not know how to go about it. There seems to be a little too much "agreement," and we can hardly understand who proposed Constantinople and St. Petersburg and afterwards agreed to London as the seat of the conference. It is such a huge jump from "dire threats" to "smiling peace" that it looks, to say the least of it, a little doubtful.

INTERVIEWS.

In the wild frantic efforts of New York journals, to distance each other on the war news, some of the strangest and most startling communications have appeared to the public, that human ingenuity could invent. Now we do not say that these communications are not bona fide and regular, but we do say that if they are, both the French and Prussian leaders number among their brave generals and great men, consummate asses. We have always regarded Bismarck, not only as a great statesman, but as one possessed with an indomitable pride, equalled by nothing save his iron will. Our idea of him has been shattered to a thousand fragments. He may be, must be a great statesman, but the interviewer from the New York World strips him of his borrowed plumage, and he stands before us a weak, trifling man, whining like a schoolboy to ears that have no sympathy for him, and pouring out his grievances thick and fast against King William, to an utter stranger. He confesses he is the fifth wheel to the Prussian wagon, and tells his interviewer that he used to be called into the councils, but is not any more. We would have thought, and indeed do think, that shame, if nothing else, would have prevented this man, whose reputation is world-renowned, from making these confidential communications, so humiliating to himself. It may be that there was such an interview, and that it is reported correctly, and that Bismarck did act and talk like a baby; but if it be true, then we have no hesitation in believing that a great statesman may be a consummate ass at one and the same time. But we do not think such combinations usually exist.

MELANCHOLY NEWS.

But a short time ago we announced the death, on the 6th inst., at Chicago of Mr. David Wilkins, a banker of that city. We learn to-day by private dispatches of the death at Detroit on the 26th inst. of Mr. Charles Wilkins, of that city, who had recently become associated with his brother, Alson Wilkins, in a real estate and stock brokerage. These gentlemen were sons of the late David Wilkins, of this city, long known among us for his personal worth and great amiability of character. They were also brothers of our fellow citizen, Capt. James Wilkins, now engaged in the oil business. His deceased brothers were natives of this city, and were, for several years, engaged in the commerce of our rivers, and were always distinguished for their enterprise and probity. None of all our rivermen were more esteemed or stood higher in the respect and confidence of our shipping merchants. The premature death of such men in the very prime of their lives, and in the midst of their business activities will be felt as a loss to the communities in which they were located, and will be sorely lamented by numerous attached friends in this and other western cities where they were extensively known and highly valued for their personal qualities. David had accumulated a handsome competency and leaves a widow and eight children. Charles was unmarried. It will be a consolation to their friends to know that by the immediate family of the former at Chicago, and their sisters at Detroit, everything suggested by the tenderest affection, and most anxious solicitude was done with assiduous care to avert their calamity, but they had been marked for the sickle, and they have, in painful proximity of dates, in the noonday of their lives been gathered to their fathers "What shadows we are, what shadows we pursue."

RUSSIA.

Prince Gortschakoff, in his reply to the note of Lord Granville, maintains his former position, and asserts that Russia will not be bound any longer by the treaty of 1856. So long as this controversy is confined only to words there will be no great harm done, but should Russia attempt to carry out her threat of abrogation, England must either forcibly interfere, or in plain words, be set down as a cowardly braggart. She has said so much, and what she has uttered has been so plain, that there is no loop-hole left for an escape from the consequences of her refusal to carry out her threats should the necessity for interference arise. More than ever will England be required to act decisively, now that Austria has assumed such a tone, that it has awakened in Russia a feeling of indignation over insulted honor.

But, as has been before said, it is utterly impossible to foretell what England will do. The Cabinet is divided, and the peace party appear to have the ascendency. But it is impossible to hold the English people much longer in a state of suspense. They will demand something more positive than Cabinet bickerings, and the Government will be compelled to regard their demand, be it what it may. The late exhibition in London over the French Republic, is a significant fact, proving the existence of well defined feelings of power and authority, residing in the breasts of the people, and their next effort will not be so readily checked. They cannot be ignorant of the insulting remarks that have been made about their Government in its relations to France, and must feel, just as we would feel, that the honor of their nation has been trifled with. There is necessarily, a more moderate tone adopted by any nation just before it is involved in actual war. It begins to count the cost, and looks with dread on the consequences that must ensue. But this conciliatory voice always comes too late to be of service, and generally after a nation has become so far involved that withdrawal is dishonor.

At the head of the present war movement in England, stands Lord Russell. He it was, who almost fathered the Crimean campaign, and almost forced the English nation into a war that never did accomplish much, if anything, and left England far worse injured in military prestige than was Russia. The cost of that war was not less than thirty thousand lives, and thirty million pounds, and it was paid to curb Russia, that in a decade of years thereafter, is stronger than she was before the Crimean campaign, while England is absolutely unprepared to go to war with any nation whatever. Nor has that war, beyond giving Turkey a little rest, been of any benefit to that empire. To-day she stands in more danger than she ever did before, and from a combination of circumstances, almost powerless to protect herself, or call to her aid the assistance of any other nation. And there is very little sympathy, if any, for her. Her history has been written in Christian blood, and the fact is, the world would be benefitted if her cruelties and crimes were placed beyond the power of repetition, even if by doing so Turkey was blotted as a nation from the face of the earth. She has only been "a curse to civilization." All, therefore, that Russell ever did, was to prop an empire for a few short months, that ought not to have had any prop at all, and to limit the power of a nation for the time being, well knowing that the restrictions thus imposed would be broken at the very earliest opportunity. For Russia is emphatically insulted and degraded by the terms of the treaty of 1856, and the proposal to call a peace Congress, and revise the treaty is proof that the civilized world considers that that treaty should be corrected and made to bear with less rigor on Russia.

Turkey is old and worn out. Her government is rotten to the heart's core. There is not within her limits any one principle, that a Christian nation, would not blush to espouse and advocate. If allowed to remain untouched for the present, her own lust and crimes would bring down upon her head unavoidable ruin, independent of the abrogation of the treaty of 1856 or any other treaty. There is not one redeeming feature in her history, except it be in Constantinople, where policy would demand from the Turkish Empire a more liberal government for that Cosmopolitan City.

Russia is young and hearty, and possesses to-day more true elements of greatness, than any power in Europe. Her resources as well as her strength are daily developing, and England is too small a power to shackle this giant, even although Russell so valiantly offers to resist. If there was a fair, moral principle at stake, it might arouse some sympathy for that principle, even if the world had none for Turkey. But there is not one. It is simply an attempt to bind a young and vigorous man down with burnt flax, and expect him to lie there satisfied and contented with the ignominy thrust upon him. There is scarcely even the shadow of an excuse, for if Russia is to be believed, not a single principle of the treaty of 1856 is to be abrogated that affects the mutual interests of other nations. All that is asked is, that the curb be taken from the mouth, and, in those things that affect no other nation materially, to be allowed the freedom of action.

As the case stands before the civilized world, both Russia and England are entitled to censure. Russia, in dictatorially asserting that of her own motion she intended to abrogate the treaty of 1856. She clearly has no right to do so, without first demanding a congress of nations to that treaty. Then if these unnecessary restraints are not taken from off her, she has a just and equitable right to appeal to war, and would have had the sympathy if not the aid of other nations. England is just as wrong, knowing as she well knew, that the treaty was unjust and oppressive, in flying into a rage over the circular of the Russian Government, and declaring that not an article in that treaty should be abrogated. It was meeting fire with fire, and was in no wise politic. In addition to that it was acting on matters not then in issue (the opening of the whole Eastern question) and which Russia had positively declared was not intended to be opened. While we have always thought Russia was in the wrong at the outset, if there is a war, we believe England, and England alone, will be responsible, in endeavoring to force restrictions upon a great nation, that no nation would consent to have imposed. And if there is a war, then, the whole Eastern question will be opened, and the "sick man" cured forever.

A CONVENTION of Mississippi and Alabama teachers is proposed, to be held in Meridian, Mississippi, on Tuesday, December 27th, 1870, for the purpose of consultation upon all questions affecting the cause of education.

A REJOINDER.

EDITORS OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE: Gentlemen, I was impelled by a sense of duty, a few days ago, to urge the people whose destiny is linked with mine, to take a greater interest in promoting the practical efficiency of their own schools; to run no risk of creating animosities but to keep abreast of God's providences, knowing that

"In the unceasing progress of the world.
A Kinder Spirit is at watch for us.
A Wiser Hand than ours, leads us.

In our community, I found none ready though many were willing to speak in behalf of their own schools. Possessing definite information that, in the cities of New York, Philadelphia, and Cincinnati, there are large numbers of colored people with fine school buildings of their own, who from feeling of sympathy for their educational institutions, have not entertained the thought of giving them up I appealed to the people of these two cities to stand also by their schools; I referred to some of the difficulties in the way of a peaceful solution at present of the question of equal school privileges.

The appeal of mine, has been misrepresented and its language tortured by some one who, in your paper of Wednesday last, has attempted to extort from it a meaning unworthy of any man of right feeling.

I believe in the people with whom I am identified. I know, indeed that, in impulsive moments; actuated by misrepresentations, and prejudice, they may do a grievous wrong, for which they will be ready, when they see the wrong, to offer a full atonement Having this faith, I am willing that those who have read and carefully considered the facts set forth in my former letter, published in your paper on the 7th, of November, shall pronounce a Christian verdict, uninfluenced by the sophistry of those, who for purposes of their own, would incite them to a course of action, injurious alike to themselves and to their friends.

The letter of a "Colored Teacher" which seems to deal more in unjust personalities than in dispassionate arguments in favor of the immediate abrogation of separate schools, deserves some notice. I pass over the brilliant exordium about the equality of man, My whole life has been an earnest protest against the proscription which so long deprived us of the rights of manhood. Also the trite observations about social equality, I care not to notice. The writer would have known what I meant when I referred to the social element in the school question, if she had only taken time to reflect, soberly upon the matter.

But I wonder at the lapse of memory which she betrays, relative to the School laws of Pennsylvania. In the same connection when she says that those School laws "teach no such degrading sentiments as pervade the article, etc.," does she mean to imply that the association of colored teachers with colored children, or the association of colored people among themselves is degrading? Is not respectable? Yet, I can draw no other inference from her language.

And now, gentlemen, in conclusion, permit me to say that I never asserted, because I never believed, that there is anything inherently wrong in the co-education of the races. It is not only not wrong but absolutely right, whenever the proper time has come. It is now merely a question of expediency. In those places where there are no large centers of colored population, I believe separate Schools will soon be abolished. But here, for the best interest of colored children, and only for their own interests, I still insist that it is expedient that they should continue, for the present, in their own Schools.

The United States Government in establishing its system of National education, will act upon the principle that when a great blessing is to be conferred, it must be done so as to do the greatest good to the greatest number. It may be a question for present and future statesmen to determine how long separate Schools shall be allowed to continue as the best instrumentality for effecting the desired object —the raising of the colored race to an equality of intellectual culture with the white race. Gratefully thanking you for granting me space in your valuable paper for this rejoinder which, for my own justification and a setting forth of my real views and meaning, I have been compelled to make, in consequence of having been so strangely misunderstood and misrepresented,

I remain your humble servant,
S. B. N.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

REMOVAL OF MOULD FROM LINEN.

Spots of mould on fabrics can, it is said, be removed from cotton or linen, by first rubbing them over with butter and afterwards applying potassa moistened with a little water, and then rubbing the spot, when all traces of it will disappear.

SWIFT'S GINGERBREAD RECIPE.

Ingredients, two teacups of molasses, one of butter; two teaspoons of ginger, one even full of bi-carbonate of soda; one teacup of warm water; flour enough to make a soft dough. After placed in the bake tin, flour your hands to pat it into shape, and with a knife cross out the top into squares or diamonds. Bake until "done."

TO CURE WARTS ON HORSES.

A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker says: I had a fine colt that had about twenty large warts on his breast, under his belly and in his ears. I was recommended to burn them out with caustic or a hot iron, which I tried, and found that both were slow and barbarous. One day I picked up a small piece of newspaper, and found the following recipe: "To cure warts on horses. Equal parts of spirits of turpentine and olive oil. Rub well every two or three days." This I tried, and it acted like a charm.

POTASH FOR PEACH TREES.

Dr. Geo. B. Wood, in a paper read before the American Philosophical Society, states that he believes the short life of peach trees is due to a deficiency of potash in the soil, and asserts that if this alkali be supplied to the tree so that it shall reach the small roots and be absorbed, the fruit-bearing power is restored and the fruit itself, prematurely perishing, is revived. He digs around the base of the stem of the tree a hole four or five inches deep and fills it with fresh wood ashes. The result is not only the regeneration of the tree, but its assured health.

PROTECTION FROM MALARIA.

A writer in Nature urges the use of mosquito netting as a protection from malarial miasmas. He claims to have had experience in the jungles of Ceylon, in Africa and in New Zealand, and to have found that he was thus protected from damp, chill, malarious air. The heat within the netting would differ by eight degrees from the night air without. As it has been recently asserted that cotton has the power of detaining the poisonous germs which float in the atmosphere, there may be more foundation to this theory than the mere experience of one man. Those who pass through malarious regions—such as pestiferous Panama for example, where one cannot pass a night with open windows without catching a bad fever—would do well to avail themselves of this possible and not difficult protection. The writer likens it to Davy's safety lamp.

HOW PHANTOM LEAVES ARE MADE.

Dr. Dickson of Edinburgh, thus describes how Phantom (or Skeleton) Leaves are made. Dissolve three ounces of carbonate of soda (washing soda) in forty ounces (two pints) of boiling water, adding one and a-half ounces of quick lime, previously slaked; boil this for ten minutes, let it settle, pour off gently the clear solution, place it over the fire to boil, and while boiling put in the leaves; boil them briskly for some time, say one hour, adding hot water occasionally, to supply the place of that lost by evaporation. Take out a leaf and place it in a vessel of clean water, rubbing it gently between the fingers under water. If the epidermis (upper surface) and parenchyma (under part) separate easily, the leaves may be removed from the boiling solution and subjected to the same treatment; but if they do not separate easily, continue the boiling somewhat longer, until they do.

To bleach the leaves, mix about a drachm of chloride of lime with a pint of water, adding sufficient acetic acid to liberate the chlorine. Steep the leaves in this till they are whitened, "about ten minutes generally,) taking care not to let them stay in too long, or they will become very brittle. Put them into clean water, and float them out on pieces of paper. Lastly, remove them from the paper before they are quite dry, and place them in a book or botanical press until wholly dried and ready for any desired arrangement.

A CHAPTER ON NAILS.

Every farmer who had occasion to drive a nail into seasoned oak posts knows its liability to bend and break. If the point be moistened in the mouth it will usually drive more kindly. Oil is still better, but then it is inconvenient to dip each nail separately into it. Another point observed is that boards become loose eventually from the rusting of the nails, which, communicating to the wood, causes not only an enlargement of the nail hole, but the wearing away of the nail itself, rendering the fence or building shaky and insecure. This may be prevented by heating any rough grease until it smokes, and then pouring it over the nails to be used. The grease will penetrate the pores of the iron, and cause the nails to last, without rusting, an indefinite period. Besides this, no trouble will then be experienced in driving them into the hardest wood. The reason is, that the coating of grease prevents contact by air, and consequently oxidation. Oxygen is the great destroyer of iron, and moisture is the inducing cause. Anything which is to keep from contact with the air is preserved indefinitely, and if it is kept dry the effect is measurably the same. Paint upon buildings prevents the contact of air and moisture. It the whole fence or building cannot be painted, the heads, at least, of the nails should be touched therewith.

GREENHOUSE AND WINDOW PLANTS.

Heat, water and air, are things to be provided. Dust and insects are to be guarded against.

Heat.—Most plants will survive if the temperature gets below 40°; but no healthy growth or bloom can be looked for at a lower average daily temperature than 60° or 65°; it is better that the night temperature should fall 15° less than this. One difficulty with plants in our dwellings is that they are as hot at night as during the day.

Water.—Give water only where the plants need it. A plant with its roots constantly in mud cannot thrive. It is better to wait until the flagging of a plant shows that it needs water than to keep it constantly soaked. Sprinkling or showering should be done as often as possible. Take the plants to a sink or a bath-tub and give them a good dousing.

Air.—Do not be afraid of opening the windows whenever the outside air is not freezing. Give air every day when it is safe to do so. Not only will the plants be benefitted, but the atmosphere will be the better for human lungs.

Dust is a great obstacle to the successful growing of plants in the house. The showering we have recommended will help remove it, but all smooth-leaved plants, such as Camellias, Ivies and the like, should be occasionally sponged to keep the foilage clean and healthy.

Insects.—Don't have any. If the plants are daily looked over, and the thumb and finger properly applied, they will be kept in check. If a plant is badly infested by the green fly, put it in a box or under a barrel and smoke it thoroughly. If the red spider appears, as it will be apt to do in hot and dry rooms, smoke will not help it. Remove the plant into hospital and shower it daily. Frequent wetting and a moist atmosphere is the best remedy

BRIEF TOPICS.

NICHOLAS BIDDLE.

Lippincott for December says, in speaking of this great financier: "Possessing a keen and ready wit, though never a punster, he sometimes indulged in an epigrammatic remark. He was called upon one November morning by a western merchant anxious to acknowledge his obligations to Mr B. for an accommodation given him, which had saved his property. Of athletic build, all sinew and muscle—in fact a regular "six-footer"—he was so demonstrative that in the warmth of his feelings the "grip" given his benefactor at parting fairly made the latter wince. As the door closed upon him, Mr. Biddle turned to a friend who had witnessed the interview, and observed, 'There, now, is a man in whose hands gratitude becomes a vice.'"

MR. BERGH VICTORIOUS.

The notorious den of Kit Burns, in Water street, New York, had a thorough cleaning out on the occasion of Mr. Bergh's raid at the head of a party of police, Monday night. A new dog and rat pit had been fitted up in the rear of his drinking saloon, and "cards" issued for a grand rat bait, with thirty nine men of the baser sort had gathered to witness. After fifty or sixty rats had been slaughtered, the presiding genius brought on the real "sport" of the evening by pitting two ferocious bull dogs against each other in the arena, and they were worrying and tearing each other brutally when a sudden rush was heard outside, the door was burst in, and Mr. Bergh, with several officers of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, backed by Captain Allaire and a platoon of police, entered. The roughs flew to the back door and the windows, but they were guarded by blue coats and not a man escaped. All were locked up for the night after giving their names, and the hours made vocal with curses and ribald songs.

MARSEILLES.

The curious work that has been going on at Marseilles, under the rule of the "Reds," is described in late correspondence in London and Manchester papers. There seems to be little to choose between the rule of Clusert and that of the semi-established Government, between the Garde Civique and the Garde Nationale. These troops have encounters in the streets, in which men are shot dead, and citizens, such as may be from the excitement of the general row, frightened into cellars and other places of safe retreat. A favorite exercise of the Garde Civique is to picket the great square of Marseilles, the Cannebiere, and make sorties upon passing groups. The Garde Nationale finds practice in shooting Civiques from doorways. Train made a temporary alliance with Clusert on his arrival, and on the occasion of a review presented himself on a balcony in company with that "Genedal;" but the dislike to Clusert was so great that the troops would not march by until he withdrew, and they would not be pacified even when Train wound the tri-color and the stars and stripes about his throat and indulged in the most highly patriotic gestures. This appears to be the latest authorized account of Mr. Train's appearance in public, and it is not strange that his affiliation with Clusert opened the way to the jail.

A NEW SECT.

Wellington, South Africa, is the abode of a new sect of religious fanatics calling themselves Children of Jesus, who are described by the Cape Town Standard as alike shocking decency and corrupting morality by their blasphemy and worse than Mormonism. Their founder is one Groenewond, who came out from Holland as a peddler, married, turned missionary, and at last blossomed out as a prophet, revelator and sect founder, went to Europe, entrapped some wealthy men and many "converts," returned and founded the City of God or New Jerusalem, and has issued a number of tracts of the most blasphemous nature. He professes to receive audible revelations from God, which he signifies by falling on his back, and while kicking and groaning he will have a pencil and paper handed to him, on which he will write what he asserts is a communication from on high. These revelations govern all the proceedings of the sect, who number about fifty, and live in what they call one perpetual Sabbath. They practice polygamy and the most disgusting orgies of the communists, but are outwardly quiet and unobtrusive. Groenewond claims that he has the privilege, only granted to himself, of granting the Holy Ghost, and also for his own use and that of the saints a living, loudly speaking God, whom, however, only himself, the prophetess and his two apostles hear.

SPECIE.

Ralston, New Mexico, is a new mining town which has sprung up in the Burro mountains, where are solid ledges of silver ore, assaying from $40 to $3,500 a ton, if we may believe a correspondent. The mines were discovered by a party of Sonora Mexicans, with a train of pack-asses or "burros," who returned home with their animals laden with silver ore. A subsequent trip with a larger party resulted in all being slaughtered by the Apaches, and only two or three of the "burros" loose being found, months after by a party in search of the missing men. The mountains received their name from these stray beasts. Last winter, a prospector, going to San Diego, struck some rich specimens, and returning with an adequate party, soon found the immense reef of argentiferous quartz, jutting up into the air from 100 to 700 feet above the surrounding country, and from 100 to 250 feet in thickness. A company was organized, claims located, and now a large thriving settlement is established.

A MYSTERY SOLVED.

A San Francisco correspondent of the Chicago Journal says: Considerable wonderment has been created by the discovery of a fossil ship on the sandy desert in Southern California. A number of theories have been advanced as to how she became stranded so far from navigable waters. Some have thought out one explanation, and some another, while all have speculated and wondered. The most prosiac and common sense view of the matter obtained is the narration of the fact that some years since the United States Government needed a small vessel for lightering purposes at Fort Yuma, on the Colorado river. A ship builder laid the keel, and, after being built, the vessel was sent to San Pedro, where the attempt was made to tranfer it on rollers, driven by oxen, over the desert. The teams probably lost the road, or became fast in one of the quicksands common to that locality, and there remained, to the confusion of scientific minds, years later. So endeth another mystery.

FRATERNAL ENEMIES.

The correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, writing from Metz on the 24th ult., tells the following touching story: "This afternoon I witnessed a very touching scene. A French soldier of the Thirty-third Line Regiment, belonging to the Corps of General Frossard, had been a prisoner at the outposts. He is a native of Jouy-aux Arches, where his wife and children now reside. En passant, on his way to Corny, where the headquarters of the Prince are now situated, he asked permission to be allowed to see his wife and children. Need I say that the request was immediately granted? The poor woman, half delirious with joy, asked to be allowed to accompany her husband at least to Corny. This was also acceded to; but then came the difficulty about the 'bairns.' The woman was weak and could not carry her baby, and at home there was no one to mind it; as for the little chap of five, he could toddle along by his father's side. The difficulty was, however, overcome by a great Pomerian soldier, who volunteered to act as nurse. This man had been quartered close to the poor woman's house, and the little ones knew him, for he had often played with them. When, therefore, bidding the poor wife to be of good cheer, he held out his big strong arms to the little infant, it came to him immediately, and, nestling its tiny head upon his shoulder, seemed perfectly content. So did the Prussian soldier carry the Frenchman's child. When I first saw the group, the wife was clasped in her husband's embrace, the little boy clung to his father's hand, while the Prussian soldier, with the baby in his arms, stalked along by their sides. Then the Frenchwoman told her husband how, when she had been ill and in want of food, the Prussian soldiers shared their rations with her, and fetched wood and water, had lit the fire, and helped her in their own rough, kindly way; until at last two men, who belonged to countries arrayed against each other in bitterest hate, who perhaps a few days since fought the one against the other, embraced like brothers; whilst I, like a great big fool, stood by and cried like a baby. But I was not alone in my folly, if folly it be; several Prussian officers and soldiers followed my example—for we all had wives and children in far-off homes."

COURAGEOUS.

Some weeks back a French Colonel was placed at the head of a regiment being formed in a central town—at Nevers, if we have been rightly informed. The officers spent their time in the cafes; the soldiers in like manner went to the cabarets, every one coming into barracks when he liked, and paying little attention to the beat of drum; as to exercise, little or nothing was done. "This cannot last," said the Colonel, and for the next day he commanded a long drill in person; a march occupied the afternoon. On the succeeding day they had a long march, and after soup the soldiers were again called to drill. Murmurs soon broke out, and threats were uttered, of which the Colonel was informed; and on the third day, after a long and tiresome drill, he came alone into the barrack yard. An old soldier who had spoken a good deal and had drunk somewhat at the canteen, came up to make complaints, and in doing so employed an insolent gesture. The Colonel very coolly drew a pistol from his pocket, and blew out the man's brains; he then had the rappel beaten, and standing beside the corpse, he said: "You are 3,000 here, and I am alone; you can murder me, but you will kill a brave man who has punished a coward and a traitor." The response was, "Vive le Colonel;" and from that moment order and discipline were restored.

JEWS IN ROME.

The Israelites of Rome rejoiced greatly at the arrival of the Italian troops, and expressed their feelings in an address to the King. When, on the 21st of September, General Cadorna entered the city of Rome at the head of his army, through the streets of Posta Pia, a Roman emigrant, Mr. Ambrmo Mose Mondolso, lifted up his boy, seven years old, in the uniform of the national guard. The Gen. pressed his hand, and General Masi kissed the boy.—Among the delegates, to report the plebiscite, the Jewish community was also represented by Mr. S. Matri, one of the directors of the Bank of Rome. —At the meeting of the two united quarters, Saint Angelo and Campitelli, presided by Count Pianciani, a very recommendable demonstration in favor of the Jews was made. It is known, that the Ghetto is situated partly in both quarters; eight representatives were to be elected, it was moved to elect two Jews and such was unanimously adopted, and amidst applause, carried into effect. The Romans prove, by such words and actions, that the true feelings of the people were always favorable to the Jews.

A NOTABLE PILGRIMAGE.

The Shah of Persia, who is performing a pilgrimage to the holy shrine of Kerbela, lately passed through Bagdad, accompanied by a suite of upwards of ten thousand persons, including several Persian Princes and other dignitaries among whom was Nazym Bey, the Ottoman representative for nine years past at the Court of Teheran. The horses and other beasts of burden composing this stately caravan nnmber upward of fifteen thousand. During his stay in Turkish territory the Shah will be the guest of the Sultan. It is worthy of note (says the Levant Herald) that Shah Nasr Ed-Din is the first sovereign of Persia who, since the taking of Bagdad, has performed a pilgrimage to the sanctuary of Kerbela.

AUTUMNLUCK.

A PICTURE FROM LIFE, BY MRS. P. DANSE.

Did you hear the startling news?
 Did you hear it? did you say?
Said the old maid Mary Time
 To her neighbor Mistress May.
To be sure. Miss Autumn's going
 Is—but it's impossible—
 To be married. Heaven assist me!
O! how cunning, artful, knowing!

Beauty in her eyes' bright splendor;
 Fine and slender is the mould,
And her heart the same for ever,
 Always young and never old.
What you term a lovely beauty
 Is delusion—not refined;
Slender, fine, you call the linage,
 Artificially combined.

Dear Miss Autumn is a flower,
 Says the neighbor, kind and good,
Rarely found in life's bright meadows—
 Mary Time on needles stood—
Don't believe old Fame's odd stories,
 Never trust such genius' sway,
Sighs Miss Mary—Oh, the pity
 That this man has missed his way!

Wise and prudent is Miss Autumn,
 Say the town's selectest minds.
Many a troubled heart and heavy
 In her counsels solace finds.
Thin and thinner, even thinnest
 Grows old Mary's earthly form,
For this neighbor's peroration
 Raises in her soul a storm.

Nature's shade on blooming features
 She pronounces paint and color,
And the eyes, deep lustrous shadow,
 Borrowed, artful, feigning dolor.
Pressed and dwarfed she calls the prettiest,
 Loveliest Cinderella's foot,
And the truest, noblest feeling
 Does she style but falsehood's root.

Hopeless, like Cassandra's sorrow,
 Is old Mary's clairvoyance,
For Miss Autumn she is happy
 'Midst old Envy's arrogance.
Neither Envy's slanderous efforts
 Nor the jealousy of men
Rob her of her dearest treasures,
 "Trust in God and trust in men."

A NOVELTY.

Pneumatic Passenger Cars in Chicago.

A pleasure trip on a new line of pneumatic cars was taken by seventy invited guests in Chicago, on Saturday last. The Times, of that city, describes the scene: The party left the dummy station at three o'clock, and soon arrived at Hyde Park, where the pneumatic car was found back ed up to a portable engine at the rear of the depot. The car resembles an ordinary street car, excepting the peculiar formation of the roof, which looks like that of a palace sleeping car, and on this account it was at once dubbed "the palace street car" by the visitors. This heavy top renders the car about twice as heavy as others, and is of great importance to the pneumatic car, for it contains the propelling power. It consists of four hollow tanks, made of copper, braised together, and of sufficient capacity to hold 150 cubic feet of compressed air, and of sufficient strength to resist a pressure of 250 pounds to the square inch. These tanks are filled, or charged, by means of an air force-pump worked by the steam engine. Beneath the seats, on either side, at one end of the car are two small machines operated precisely the same as the ordinary steam engine, connected with the wheels by cranks. The engines are controlled by the conductor on the platform by means of a wheel placed in juxtaposition with the brake. One hand is used in operating the engines, without interfering seriously with the control of the brake.

"After the filling of the tanks, which occupied but a few minutes, the company was divided into two parties to accommodate the size of the car. The first load consisted of thirty men. The car started with the same celerity as one would drawn by a pair of horses, and bowled along very nicely at the rate of six miles an hour. The pressure on the gauge at starting was 145 pounds. After passing up the track for a mile, the car returned, making the last mile in a few seconds less than ten minutes, and the gauge indicated that only 30 pounds of pressure had been used. The car was reloaded and went another mile and one-quarter, when the pressure became exhausted. The tanks were only calculated to hold sufficient air to propel the car three miles, and it was so stated by Mr. Myers before the start was made. The trial was pronounced to be entirely satisfactory by the railroad men present, and some of them were quite enthusiastic in their praise of the invention and the inventor. The only objection made was to the slight noise of the exhaust in the little engines, and this, it is claimed, can be completely deadened by having them inclosed in boxes."

EQUINE INSTINCT.

How a Horse Rescued a Party of Men Lost on the Prairies.

Some years since a party of surveyors had just finished their day's work in the northwestern part of Illinois, when a violent snow storm came on. They started for their camp, which was in a grove of about eighty acres in a large prairie, nearly twenty miles from any other timber.

The wind was blowing very hard and the snow drifting so as to nearly blind them. When they thought they had nearly reached their camp, they all at once came upon tracks in the snow. These they looked at with care, and found to their dismay, that they were their own tracks.

It was now plain that they were lost on the great prairie, and if they had to pass the night there, in the cold and snow, the chance was that not one of them would be alive in the morning.

While they were all shivering with fear and the cold, the chief man of the party caught sight of one of their horses—a gray pony known as "Old Jack."

Then the chief said, "if any one can show us our way to camp, out of this blinding snow, Old Jack can do it. I will take off his bridle and let him loose, and we can follow him. I think he will show us the way to camp."

The horse as soon as he found himself free, threw his head and tail into the air, as if proud of the trust that had been put in him Then he snuffed the breeze and gave a loud snort, which seemed to say: "Come on, boys! Follow me; I'll lead you out of this scrape." He then turned in a new direction and trotted along, but not so fast that the men could not follow him. They had not gone more than a mile when they saw the cheerful blaze of their camp-fires, and gave a loud huzza at the sight.

Diseases of the Lungs.

It is more particularly at this season of the year that we suffer most danger of contracting diseases of the lungs, and once contracted there is but one method of ridding the system, and that is a systematic course of treatment, such as is employed by Dr. Kyser, of No. 167 Liberty street. There is no knowing whether the hacking cough is merely a severe cold, or an actual lung disease, which, unless stopped, may ultimately prove fatal. Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure is a remedy which has been more successful than any other, and, indeed, we know of no other that proposes to do and does what Dr. Kyser's remedy performs. Dr. Kyser claims that consumption is not the necessarily fatal disease it is popularly supposed to be, and that if the cure be taken in time, the ailment is quite manageable and capable of a decided cure. As Dr. Kyser says, he has had patients brought to his office whom even he deemed entirely beyond cure, and yet, after a judicious course of treatment they have recovered and regained their former health. Dr. Kyser has given the best years of his life to the study of the lungs and of consumption which makes such terrible ravages. After this protracted course of study, it would be strange if he was not competent to search for evidences of disease and treat it successfully where it does exist. The numerous cases in which this physician has combated consumption and restored health and vigor form a sufficient recommendation for his Lung Cure. If your druggist does not keep it, send five dollars to Dr. Kyser, and he will send four bottles securely boxed, by express, with full directions how to use it.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

AN OLD FRIEND.

For many years the Press of the country has chronicled the beneficial effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Editors, authors, physicians, merchants, officers of the army and navy, chemists, counsellors, ministers of the gospel, in short, a great cloud of witnesses of every profession, trade and calling, have testified to its efficacy as a tonic and regulating medicine. The names and statements of these witnesses have been published in the public prints. Many of them are well known to the whole public. Their testimony has never been challenged or impugned. This has been tried and pronounced, on the authority of those whose lives and health it has preserved, a pure, harmless and eminently salutary preparation. Attempts have been made to rival it. They have failed. There is nothing equal to the enjoyment experienced by the afflicted when using this valuable specific. Its mild tone, its sure and vigorous action upon a disordered stomach, and the cleansing of the entire human body, recommend it to the whole community as a RELIABLE FRIEND.

OLD FRIEND

AN OPPORTUNITY
Seldom Offered

Is now opened for Investors and Capitalists to buy the guaranteed Second Mortgage Six per cent. Bonds of the Indianapolis & Vincennes
RAILROAD COMPANY,
Guaranteed by the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company, as the following able opinion will explain for itself, to-wit:

NEW YORK, July 16, 1870.
GENERAL A. E. BURNSIDE. DEAR SIR,—We have examined the two contracts of guaranty, dated 1st of July instant, executed by the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., and deposited with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., by one of which the Pa. R. R. Co. guarantee the payment of the principal and interest of the exchanged or substituted bonds secured by the first mortgage of the Indianapolis and Vincennes R. R. Co. to Edward Pearce and William Goddard, Trustees, for $1,700,000, and by the other, of which the Pa. R. R. Co. guarantees the payment of the principal and interest of the second mortgage bonds of the Indianapolis and Vincennes Railroad Co. for $1,450,000, and we are of the opinion that these guaranties are in proper legal form to bind the Pennsylvania R. R. Co.; that that Company is fully authorized by law to enter into such guaranties, and that the bondholders, in case of need, can bring suit in their own names respectively, on the guaranties thus with the Farmers Loan and Trust Company for their benefit.
Yours, respectfully,
[Signed.] CHARLES F. SOUTHMAYD, Of Evarts, Choate & Southmayd.

We concur in the above opinion.
[Signed.] MILLER, PEET & OPDYKE.

Only a LIMITED FEW of the above bonds remain unsold, at the fixed rate of 90 and accrued interest from May 1st. They have 30 years to run, pay 8 per cent. interest per annum, semi-annually; and, being GUARANTEED by the PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL RAILROAD, makes them as desirable a HOME INVESTMENT as the Pittsburgh Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway bonds, guaranteed by the same Railroad (P. C. R. R.) Company.

MONEY AND COMMERCE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, Nov. 28, 1870.

Our local money market is without marked change. Loans continue easy—the supply of ready means fairly meeting the demand.

There is but little doing in the stock market to-day; the few transactions reported are so close upon previous prices that we make no change in the quotations.

The New York market is a shade more active, and in the Railway list especially prices have advanced somewhat. Gold has gradually fallen off, and closes at 4 p. m. ⅛ per cent lower than the early morning quotations. Pacific advices from Europe have caused the decline in gold, and revived confidence in the stock market, where it will be seen, prices have risen as gold declined, and to about the same extent.

Robinson Bros., No. 78 Fourth avenue, furnish the following comparative quotations of bonds and stocks, from their latest advices by wire:

Total last week	45

In addition to these forty-five cars from the west, there were about 300 head driven in from the adjoining country, and in all there was about eleven hundred on sale. This although not a large supply, comparatively speaking, was, nevertheless, in excess of the demand to-day, as the market was very sluggish, and there were some, we do not know how many, left over unsold. The low price of hogs and great abundance of poultry, as might be expected, has curtailed very materially the consumption of beef, and, consequently, butchers, generally, did not buy as liberally as usual, and this accounts for the falling off in the demand. Stock cattle were also slow, the number of stock buyers in attendance being smaller than usual, though there was no quotable decline in prices, nor was there, so far as we could discover any change in the price of good cattle, but all grades changed hands very slowly and had there have been a big supply, a decline would have been almost inevitable. As will be seen by reference to the annexed report of sales, prime to extra brought 7@7½—some few [illegible].

HOGS.

The number of hogs on sale to-day was unusually large, and the market was very dull, and, as compared with this day week, prices have still further declined. We now quote in a retail way at 6¾@7¼cts, for good to extra.

Horner & Shoemaker wholesaled 50, averaging 280 lbs, to Rothchilds at 6⅜.

R C Crum sold for Elliott to Phillip Freed (packer) 111, averaging about 250 or 255 lbs, at $6.60.

W A Harrington sold 13, 275 lbs, at 6⅝.

There were other sales, the particulars of which we did not get, and, doubtless, a number left over unsold.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, November 28, 1870.

The weather to-day was again very fine, resembling a May day more than one verging close on to the 1st of December, and was all that could possibly be desired for out door business. Judging from the main streets, which were crowded with teams and people hurrying to and fro, one would naturally conclude that trade was active, and, all things considered, it is; still there is considerable complaint in commercial circles, not so much about business being dull, as there is in regard to small margins. Many of our merchants allege that notwithstanding they have as much, if not more business, than in former years, they are not as well remunerated, have more capital employed, and are getting smaller returns, and there is not much doubt but what this is true, but then there seems to be no help for it. They must keep up with the times, do more business, and be satisfied with smaller returns; these are not war times, when fortunes were made in a few weeks or months, and the sooner people become reconciled to doing a regular legitimate business, the better it will be for them.

APPLES—Quiet and unchanged. We continue to quote at $2.50@3 per bbl for fair to prime—choice in small lots, $3.25@3.50.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales at 60@75 cts per gallon, as to quality.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is dull and cannot be quoted above $3.25@3.50 per cwt.

BUTTER—There is no falling off in the receipts, and with an unusually large supply, the market continues dull, though prices remain without quotable change, 20@25 for common to medium, and 28@30c for choice.

BEANS—The receipts have been large recently and the market is dull and prices are weak, and tendency downward; may be quoted at $1.50@2.25 per bushel.

BROOM CORN—Quoted at 5@7c.

CHEESE—Is quoted at 13¾@14, for Western Reserve; 13@15½, for Ohio Factory and 16 for Ohio Goshen.

CRANBERRIES—Sales @12@13 per bbl, according to quality and size of barrels.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands 21, in a jobbing way, 22@22½ for small lots.

COAL—Sales of Anthracite at $9@9½ per ton by the car load, delivered.

CEMENT—Sales Louisville Hydraulic at $3@3½, and Calcined Plaster at $4½ per bbl.

CIDER—Is dull and in good supply, but unchanged; $8@9 per bbl.

DRESSED HOGS—Dull, notwithstanding the offerings thus far have been small; may be quoted nominally at 8@8½ cts.

DRIED FRUIT—Small sales of peaches at 8@8½ for quarters, and 10½@11½ for halves. Apples, 7@8c—sliced, 8@9½. Blackberries, 12@14 cents.

EGGS—The receipts seem to be increasing, and the market is easier, though there is as yet no quotable change in prices; 27@28c for pickled and 30@32c for fresh.

FEATHERS—Demand is improving but there is no change whatever in prices; No. 1 live geese, 85@88—in small lots, 88@90.

FLOUR—The market is quiet and unchanged. We continue to quote at $5.75@6.25 for spring wheat, $6@6.50 for red winter and $6.75@7 for white—in sacks, about 25 cts. per bbl under these quotations. Rye Flour is dull at $5.00@5.25 per bbl.

GRAIN—The grain market is quiet and devoid of anything particularly new or important. Wheat is in fair milling demand at last week's prices, $1.15@1.20 for red, and $1.20@1.25 for white. Oats quiet and unchanged at 43@45 buying, and 45@47 selling that is for round lots. There is considerable inquiry for Corn, both old and new, and with a limited supply the market is stronger though prices are without quotable change; 60@65 for new ear, in round lots, buying and selling, and 75@80 for old. Rye is quiet and unchanged at 80@85. Barley continues quiet and nominally unchanged; 80@90 for spring, and 90@$1.00 for fall.

GROCERIES—The grocery market is quiet and devoid of a single new or important feature worthy of special notice. The demand continues rather light, while prices although weak, have undergone no change whatever.

COFFEE—Choice Rio, 22; Prime, 21½; Good 21; Fair, 20; Ordinary, 18½@19; Java, 28; Laguayra, 22. Roasted Coffee loose, 23; in papers, 24.

SUGARS—New Orleans, 11¾@12½ for old, and 13 for new; Porto Rico, 10½@12; Cuba, 10¾@11½; Box Sugars, 11@12; Demerara, 12@12½. Refined—Standard Hards, 14¼; A, 13¼; B, 13; Ex C, 12⅞; C Y M, 12⅝.

SYRUPS—Havemeyer & Elders, 85@87; Loverings, 63@65; other brands, 60@80.

RICE—Carolina, 7¾@8.

MOLASSES—New crop New Orleans, 90; old, 80; Porto Rico, 50@70; Demerara 75.

HAY—Sold in Allegheny to-day at $10@17, and the offerings were larger than usual.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, November 28, 1870.

There was some little excitement in the crude market to-day, for this month and next—beyond that there seems to be little or no disposition to do anything at present, but little offering and not much inquiry for it. The excitement to which we have adverted, may be attributed the fact that there is thought to be a good many seller options and for 1870, which will have to be settled between now and January 1st, and as rumors are rife, that a "corner" is contemplated, the shorts are beginning to feel a little uneasy, and are inclined to buy now to cover their contracts. The fact that there is very little inquiry for oil beyond January 1st, confirms this view of the matter, and there can be no doubt but that the shorts are responsible for the present flurry. It is true, some of our refiners may be obliged to buy between now and the 1st of 1871, but as a general thing, they are pretty well fixed, having bought crude when they sold refined, and hence it is fair to infer that the shorts will be the principal buyers from now until the close of the year, and was it not for the fact the shorts will require a considerable amount of oil, an advance in the price of crude, in the present aspect of affairs, would be almost impossible. In case the shorts should succeed in "covering" their sales for this year, there being no other purchasers of crude, of consequence, it ought naturally under the pressure of the heavy production go back again.

RIVER NEWS.

The river remains about stationary at this point, with five feet in the channel. It was rumored that there had been a rise of two feet at Greensboro on Sunday, but the wires between Brownsville and that point being out of order, we are without reliable news at this writing. Weather continues mild and pleasant, but it is not likely to hold out long.

The Julia No. 2, from Zanesville, is the only arrival we have to record. She returns again to-day, leaving promptly at 4 p. m.

Intelligence has been received of the death at Detroit, of Charles Wilkins, brother of Capt. James Wilkins, of this city, and for many years, a well-known Ohio river clerk. Deceased retired from the river several years ago. He steamboated for a long time with Capt. John S. McMillan. A more detailed notice of Mr. Wilkins, will be found elsewhere.

The Brill, Capt. Dan Moore, with Capt. W. W. Auld in charge of the office, is announced for Nashville.

The Mollie Ebert, Capt. G. W. Ebert, will depart for New Orleans as soon as there is sufficient water, as will also the Messenger, Capt. Robt. Greenlee.

The Glendale, Capt. Hare, will be the first through boat out for St. Louis.

The Juniata was to have left Cincinnati for this port on Sunday.

The Allegheny was reported falling at Oil City yesterday, and weather there, as here, clear and pleasant.

—One of our well known citizens, who owns property on the river front, and who is a believer in free trade, as regards navigation and wharfage privileges, proposes next spring to build a nice wharf on East Front street, for the special accommodation of boats that wish to land at East Davenport. The enterprise contemplates a large warehouse immediately on the wharf, where freight can be stored or left, and be safe from exposure to weather. The idea is yet in the rough, but will likely be put in such shape that the work will be well under way by the opening of navigation in 1871.—Davenport Gazette.

—Says the Shreveport Southwestern: We alluded in our daily issue of Friday to the effort being made by the Bofinger line of Mississippi steamers, aided by the New Orleans and Red River boats, to break down the Carter Line of St. Louis packets. We learn that the first named line proposes to bring Red River freight from St. Louis to the mouth at nominal rates, and some of the New Orleans boats agree to bring it up at about the same rate. As before remarked, this will prove a good thing for shippers, but for boatmen quite the reverse.

—It is presumed the hull of Captain Boardman's iron boat will cost $40,000, although he estimates it at $36,000. There is 225 tons of iron in it, and the price is $125 per ton completed, besides $4,000 for moulds and wages. Big price for a hull this, but it will never sink nor wear out.

—Capt. W. A. Peebles, better known in marine circles as Lord Palmerston, will leave Nashville for St. Louis in a few days, to take command of his new Nashville and St. Louis packet.

—Says the St. Louis Democrat, of Saturday: The Collier begins loading this morning with 1,400 tons iron ore for Pittsburgh. She will have six barges, and make two trips to Cairo.

—Capt. Van Hook telegraphs that the Carrie V. Kountz arrived safely at Jefferson last Wednesday; she encountered fogs every night.

Slight Fire.—A slight fire occurred in the dwelling of Mr. Wm. Barnhill, in East Liberty yesterday morning. The fire caught in the roof which was partially destroyed. The origin of the fire is not known. The loss is but trifling.

Going East.—Mr. James B. Dodge, the enterprising book-seller and stationer, of No. 68 Fifth avenue, second floor, has left for the East this evening, to lay in a stock of holiday goods. Look out for something nice when he returns.

Larceny.—Yesterday afternoon some adroit thief stole $250 from the auction room of N. Whiting & Co., under Lafayette Hall, Wood street. The money had been counted and laid on a shelf back of the counter, from where it was stolen.

Astonishing.—There is a township in Licking county, Ohio, named Eden, in which there is no school house. It votes the Democratic ticket almost unanimously, and evidently has never partaken of the fruit of the tree of knowledge to any alarming extent.

Rejoinder.—We ask the attention of our readers to a communication signed S. B. N. (should read "S. A. N.," but type will get in the wrong place,) which appears on our second page. The writer is well known and highly esteemed in educational circles.

Information was made charging Evans with assault and battery and resisting an officer, and after a hearing he was held to bail for his appearance at Court.

Editors Gazette: In your mention of the names as candidates suggested at the preliminary meeting in the Fifth ward, Pittsburgh, you have probably made an unintentional mistake. The candidate for Alderman is John Mitchell, an old and well known citizen of the ward, and not James Mitchell as you printed. FIFTH WARD.

Still Exploded.—The alarm of fire from box 67, corner of Penn and Thirty-second streets, yesterday afternoon, was caused by the bursting of a large still at the Petrolite Oil Works, owned by Wormser, Myers & Co. The fire was confined to the still, and in a short time extinguished. The loss will not amount to over two hundred dollars. There was no insurance. A small amount of lumber in the yard adjoining the refinery, owned by Jas. L. Brown, was partially destroyed.

Youthful Voyagers.—Lizzie, George and Annie Griffin, three bright little ones, aged respectively eleven, nine and six years, arrived, yesterday, at the Union Depot from England, en route to join their father, a miner in Canton, Ohio. They came all the long distance unaccompanied, and were so brave and self-independent as to win the favors and attentions of the officers of the ship and of the railroad officials. We need not say that at the Union Depot they were kindly treated by the officials there, who, although the children had emigrant tickets, passed them to their father in first-class coaches, and telegraphed him the time they would be with him. These little travelers were specimens of "Young England," fully up to our Young America.

Fatal Accident.

A fatal accident occurred on the Panhandle Railroad near Noblestown, Sunday evening, resulting in the death of Frank Diamond. The engineer of the freight train, passing about eleven o'clock, saw the man on the track, but in the darkness did not know it was a man, and sounded the whistle, thinking it was some animal. The unfortunate man was knocked down, and the train passed over him. Coroner West held an inquest, but being unable to find that official after his return, we are unable to announce the result.

Sudden Death of a Clergyman.

Rev. Father Daniel S. Devlin, brother of Rev. Father M. F. Devlin, of St. Paul's Cathedral, died after a very brief illness at his mother's residence in Baldwin township yesterday afternoon. On Saturday last he left the Episcopal residence to spend a few days with his mother, and complained of feeling slightly unwell. He was not seriously ill up to a few hours of his death, when he was suddenly struck down and expired from an affection of the heart. The deceased was thirty-four years of age, and since ordained has had charge of congregations in various portions of the Pittsburgh Catholic Diocese. Recently, he was pastor of St. Agnes church, Soho, and at the time of his death was attached to St. Paul's Cathedral. He was generous, charitable and kind-hearted, and as a pastor beloved and popular with all classes. His funeral will take place to-morrow morning. A Solemn High Mass of Requiem for his eternal welfare will be celebrated in the Cathedral at ten o'clock, after which the funeral will proceed to St. Mary's Cemetery.

Not as it Should Be.

The sidewalk on Federal street, Allegheny, at the depot of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway, which has been a neglected nuisance for a year or two past, is at last being repaired by the Railway Company, but in an insufficient and unsatisfactory manner. Only two lines of stepping stones are being laid, these are about one foot wide each, so that two feet is what the Company allows the citizens to connect the sidewalk fourteen feet wide above and below. If two gentlemen meet on this narrow place there will be no difficulty, but if each is accompanied by his wife, a question of precedence at once arises that can only be settled by one or the other taking to the cobble stones and mud (in wet weather). We blame the officer of the road who directed the work, for his niggardly way of repairing the walk, and will blame the Street Commissioner if he accepts the repair as a compliance with the ordinance. We feel sure that the higher authorities of the road would neither authorize or sanction a repair so inadequate, and we feel sure also that no private citizen could obtain official permission to leave his sidewalk in a condition so annoying as this will be to the thousands who have daily occasion to experience the annoyance. We trust a more suitable provision for pedestrians on this great thoroughfare will be insisted upon. There is no reason why the same conformity to the street laws should not be exacted from a corporation as from private citizens and whether the delinquency is chargable to the Railroad Company's agent or to the street Commissioner, we propose to hold him responsible until the evil is remedied.

Ordination and Installation.

The Reformed Presbyterian congregation of Allegheny, in April, 1869, elected David B. Willson its pastor. A portion of the congregation forwarded to Pittsburgh Presbytery a protest and remonstrance against the election. Presbytery refused to sustain their protest and remonstrance. The call was presented to Mr. Willson for his acceptance or rejection, and he declined it. On September 13, 1870, a second election was held, resulting in the re-election of Mr. Wilson by the following vote:

D. B. Willson—Vote of members present... [illegible]
Proxy votes... [illegible]

J. W. Sproull—Members present... [illegible]
Proxies... [illegible]

Scattering... [illegible]

The call was unanimously sustained by Presbytery as regular, and forwarded to New York Presbytery for presentation. One hundred and three members of the congregation petitioned Presbytery for an organization as a new congregation, which was granted them, and they were organized as the Central Reformed Presbyterian Congregation on Oct. 25th. On October 26th the call was presented to Mr. Willson by the New York Presbytery, at which time he accepted it. His ordination and installation will take place (as announced in our columns last week) this evening at 7½ o'clock in the church, Sandusky street, above Ohio. Revs. A. M. Milligan, Pittsburgh; [illegible] Venice; and N. R. Johnston, [illegible] Pa., are the commission on ordination. Mr. Willson will deliver his trial pieces for ordination at 2½ o'clock P. M.

Geary to give this matter his prompt attention and to adopt such measures in regard to it, as in his discretion may seem proper and expedient.

Resolved, That a copy of the above resolution, properly certified by the officers of Councils be promptly sent to Governor Geary.

The resolutions were adopted:

Mr. BURGWIN presented the petition of Agnew & Wilcox for a reduction of business tax. Referred to the Finance Committee.

CONTROLLERS OFFICE.

The Controller Mr. McGowan submitted a communication relative to an abatement of business tax, and transmitting the following resolution relative to making transfers in appropriations.

Resolved, That the city Controller be and is hereby authorized to make the following transfers of appropriations.

From No. 16 city property to No. 5 Police	$1,962.27
From No. 14 Allegheny wharf to No. 5 Police	1,000.00
From No. 12 Weigh'scales to No. 6 Water works	190 67

Mr. KIRK moved as an amendment that before the change of appropriation to the Police Committee was made that the Police Committee be required to report to Council the manner in which the money had been expended, and the number of policemen employed, also that the Controller be requested to report whether he had certified warrants for the payment of more officers than were required by law.

Mr. McCARTHY spoke against the amendment.

Mr. KEHEW from the Committee said that if the gentleman read the papers he could see published every month the proceedings of the Police Committee, and if it was necessary those reports could be submitted to Councils.

Mr. MORROW moved to strike out so much of the amendment as prevents the change of appropriations to the police.

Mr. LLOYD moved to lay the amendment of M. Kirk on the table.

Mr. KIRK called for the yeas and nays with the following result:

Ayes—Aiken, Bissell, Brown, Coffin, Edwards, Gross, Herron, House, E. P Jones, I. Jones, Kehew, Laufman, Littell, Lloyd, Murdoch, Murray, McEwen, McCarthy, Rees, Scully, Seeley, Shipton, Wilson—23.

Nays—Ahl, Armstrong, Burgwin, Devlin, Gallaher, Kirk, Liddell, Morrow, Rafferty, Schmidt—10.

So the amendment was laid on the table.

The question then recurred on the original resolution making the transfer, which was adopted.

Mr. GALLAHER moved that the words with power to act be stricken out. Adopted.

The question then recurred on the motion to refer to the Railroad Committee and it was adopted as amended.

Mr HERRON called up the ordinance relative to the inspection of salt passed to a second reading at a former meeting. Passed finally.

Mr. SHIDLE, petition for erection of gas lamp in front of Seventh ward school house. Referred.

THAT "CESS POOL MONOPOLY."

Mr. D. L. FLEMING, a preamble and resolution in reference to the "Cess Pool Monopoly." The resolution instructed the Board of Health to issue permits to other persons than those owning steam apparatus.

Mr. FLEMING, in response to inquiries, explained that at a former meeting he presented a petition from a large number of citizens, twelve hundred or more, complaining of the present mode of cleaning cess pools. The petition alleged that the business was monopolized by one or two parties, and asked Councils to instruct the Board of Health to remedy the matter, by granting permits to others than those owning steam apparatus. A resolution passed the Common branch in conformity with the request of the petitioners, and was alleged by some members of the Select to have been concurred in by that body. The "Municipal Record" also so states. Yet a member of the Board of Health asserted at a recent meeting that the Board had not been notified of the fact. In view of these circumstances the present resolution was offered, as a substitute for that about the disposition of which there appeared to be more than one opinion.

Read three times and passed.

Mr. SNODGRASS, resolution for several gas lamps in the Seventh ward. Referred.

Mr. SEITZ, petition from J. M. Kirsh for privilege to erect iron-clad building on Sixteenth street. Referred to Wooden Building Committee.

STREET COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

Mr. MORGAN, from the Street Committee, presented a report showing the transaction of the following business. The ordinance for constructing vaults under side walks referred to them, was returned with a negative recommendation. A resolution had also been passed authorizing the drawing of a warrant for $500 in favor of Gallus Bauer. The following contracts were awarded.

Grading paving and curbing Forty-fourth street from Penn avenue 476 feet to an angle to Wm. Young & Co., 33c per cubic yard grading, 90c per square yard paving, 35c per lineal foot curbing; grading, paving and curbing Try street from Greenough to Second avenue to C. W. Lewis at 35c per yard, $1.30 paving, 80c, curbing; grading and paving Hazlett street from Penn avenue to Denny's, line to Wm. W. Young at 50c, $1.15 and 70c. Grading &c., Webster avenue, from Robert's to Arthur street, to F. A. Sullivan at 70c, $1.00 and 33c. Grading Boyd street from Forbes street to Locust, to Jas. F. Heastings at 49c. Grading Shingiss street from Old avenue to Eagle street to Jas. Heasting's at 40c. Grading Erin street from Bedford street to Centre avenue to P. O'Neil for 29c. The construction of stairs on Boyd's Hill to John King at $1.25 per lineal foot. The construction of sewer on Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Pike streets, from Penn avenue to Allegheny river to Driscoll and Stolzenbach at $4.50 per foot for three foot brick sewer; $2.30 for two foot brick sewer; $2.15 for 20 inch pipe sewer; $20.00 each for manholes; $60 each for sewer drops; $8.00 per perch for masonry.

The repairs to the Try street sewer were ordered and the work commenced. The crossings had been ordered in Centre avenue at Robert and Arthurs streets. The expenditures for the month of October were $14,928.35, and the disbursements to Nov. 28, $68,255.13.

The committee also presented ordinances which were disposed of as follows: One authorizing Messrs. Farrall & Co. to construct a switch track across Valley street; passed finally. One changing name of St. Patrick's alley to Hope street; passed. One for appointment of viewers on opening of Forty-seventh street; passed. One for the opening of Beech alley from Magee street to Watson's lane; passed. One for opening vaults under sidewalks was returned with negative recommendation.

This action was sustained.

Mr. OLIVER, JR., presented the report of the Survey Committe. They had stricken off one street on the Scotch Bottom Plan, and had adopted it and instructed the Engineer to fix stone land marks throughout the plot. The Park avenue and Highland avenue plans had been adopted.

The Committee had expended during the month of October $872.11. The balance in the fund was $2,401.63.

The report was accepted, and the action of the Committee in reference to plans was approved.

Mr. OLIVER, JR., presented the report of the Special Committee, in reference to the building of stairs up Boyd's Hill, stating that they had examined the matter, and finding the stairs badly needed, had ordered the work to be done.

The report was accepted and the Committee discharged.

Mr. McKELVY offered a resolution for gas lamps on Smallman street. Referred to Gas Committee.

Mr. WALLACE, authorizing the Fire Commissioners to procure uniforms for the firemen at the cost of the city. Laid on the table.

Mr. McKELVY, an ordinance granting Tomlinson and McKee privilege to erect an iron clad addition to their building on Thirty-ninth street. Passed.

Mr. McKELVY, a resolution that when Councils adjourn they do so to meet again December 12th, in special session to finish up all old business for the year. Carried.

WATER BONDS.

Mr. BATCHELOR called up the ordinance passed in Select Council at a previous meeting, authorizing the issue of $250,000 worth of water bonds.

The President read the ordinance and decided the motion out of order, for the reason that the ordinance contained no date for the issue of the bonds, the blank not having been filled up. The ordinance, after some discussion, was referred back to Select Council, and was returned filled out with October 1st, 1870, as the date. It was then passed by C. C., the action of S. S. being thus concurred in.

RENTING OF CITY HALL.

In connection with the report of the Market Committee,

Mr. McCANDLESS offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That Councils hereafter refuse to give the use of City Hall for any purpose free of rent. Passed unanimously.

TREASURER'S CLERKS SALARIES.

The resolution authorizing immediate measures to be taken for the settlement of clerks' salaries in the Treasurer's office, in S. C. had been referred to the Finance Committee with power to act.

Mr. CHALMERS objected to the "power to act."

Mr. JONES thought the Finance Committee would do what was just and right.

Mr. McKELVY believed the Committee could be trusted.

Mr. MORGAN said the Committe would prepare an ordinance and report it to Councils. No practical action being thus taken without a previous decision of Councils.

Mr. CHALMERS withdrew his objection and the action of S. C. was concurred in.

Subsequently an ordinance came in from S. C. in reference to the matter, authorizing the Finance Committee to employ clerks, so many as were needed, in the City Treasurer's office, and to fix the salaries of the clerks, employing them temporarily or permanently as they deemed necessary. Also to fix the compensation of the clerks for 1870, provided the same did not exceed $5,400. In S. C. this ordinance had been referred to Finance Committee.

Some discussion ensued upon it, when the fact was then developed that the resolution previously passed had given the Finance Committee power to affix these salaries.

Mr. MORGAN then moved to reconsider the vote on the passage of the resolution, which was carried. The resolution and ordinance were then referred to the Finance Committee, "power to act" being stricken out.

BRADDOCK'S FIELD ROAD.

Mr. MORGAN reported that the committee having the matter in charge said they had negotiated for the purchase of the "Braddock's Field" plank road for $5,000. He offered a resolution providing for a warrant for the amount designated.

Mr. McCOY objected to the resolution. The road wasn't worth five cents.

A motion was made to suspend the rules and pass the resolution, which was lost.

Council then adjourned.

HOMES FOR ALL.

Great Sale of Eligible Suburban Property at Braddock's Station.

The attention of those wanting building lots, eligibly located and of easy access to the city, is called to the advertisement in this morning's GAZETTE of "Thirty Half Acre Lots for Sale." These lots are among the finest that have been offered to the public for a long time, and doubtless will command great attention from purchasers. They are half acre in size, not cramped into the usual proportions of 20x100, and give ample room for breathing ground, being just far enough removed from the city to give purchasers all of the benefits of the country scenery, whilst they are yet near enough to the city to permit persons doing business therein. The country in this neighborhood is justly ranked high, owing to the generous soil and the purity and healthfulness of the atmosphere. Easy access is always to be had via the Pennsylvania and Connellsville Railroads, which run accommodation trains hourly throughout the entire day, and far into the night. The lots are situated within two minutes' walk of the station, and this fact is very important to those wishing a country residence, whilst doing business in the city. They command an extensive view of the surrounding country, embracing several villages, and a landscape not to be excelled anywhere in this region of country. The magnificent Monongahela Valley with its high and picturesque border of hills, which for extent and wildness of appearance, might with great truth, be called mountains, is also comprehended in the river from this property. These grounds are planted with a flourishing orchard of apple, peach and other fruits, and several of the lots have good buildings erected thereon. The avenues and streets are laid out with ample width. The great number of daily trains on the Pennsylvania and Connellsville railroads render this locality vastly superior to almost any other place now offered to the public, although no more beautiful, convenient and healthy location could be found for residences.

The sale of these lots will take place on TUESDAY AFTERNOON NOV 29 (to-day.) A special train will leave Union Depot at half-past one o'clock P. M., to convey purchasers to and from the sale. This train will be FREE to all who wish to attend, and we earnestly hope that all wanting a cheap home, and on easy terms, (via; one-third cash, balance in one two or three years, with interest, $20 to be paid down at time of purchase) will attend and secure it. No better opportunity will ever be offered. Don't forget FREE train on Pennsylvania railroad at 1½ o'clock TO-DAY. These lots will be sold by our friend Mr. Alexander McIlwain, auctioneer.

THE MANIA FOR LADIES' FURS.

The Great Rush at Wm. Fleming & Co.'s, 139 Wood Street—Fine Display of Elegant Goods—15 to 25 per Cent. Less than Elsewhere.

We passed the spacious and elegant store of Messrs. Wm. Fleming & Co., 139 Wood street, this morning, and although at the early hour of nine o'clock, it was densely crowded with customers examining the magnificent stock of ladies' and misses' furs. For the last few years the fashion of wearing furs during the winter months has been steadily growing more popular, until it has become universal, and it is now conceded that whatever other valuable articles of dress a lady may possess now-a-days, she cannot be considered well dressed unless she has a set of furs.

There were never greater inducements offered in this line than those afforded by the great representative house of Wm. Fleming & Co., 139 Wood street. Always up to the times, the senior member of the firm, who is one of the most experienced dealers and best judges of the article in the country, has given his personal attention to the selection of the fur stock, which has been obtained from the largest and best manufactories in the country, or made to order for the special trade of this popular house. The choicest and most stylish sets of furs ever seen in this city are now on exhibition at their salesrooms, and are being sold at 15 to 25 per cent. less than they can be sold by any other house in this vicinity. The well known character of Wm. Fleming & Co. for courtesy and strict reliability, and the fact that they are selling these fine and durable goods at from $5 to $25 a set less than other houses, has given them almost a monopoly in this branch of the business. Having a larger stock than other houses, and consequently a greater variety of goods, customers have a better chance for selection than at any other place. We would remind our readers that these goods are going very fast, and it would be well to call at once and make their selection before the stock has been culled over and the choicest articles picked out.

Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works Show.

The audience which gathered last evening in Library Hall was, we think the most eminently and thoroughly elegant and fashionable we ever saw outside of a drawing room or a church. It was large but not a throng, and perhaps two hundred more people might have been seated if they had come, but there were enough there to make the wax works which they went to see work in their most easy mechanical manner, and altogether the brilliancy of the affair was sufficient for the first time to nearly dispel the gloom which usually pervaded the Hall whose only drawback is the insufficiency of light.

But having thus spoken of the hall and the audience, what can we say of the performers and performance. Words cannot suffice for our purpose. Mrs. Jarley, funny, witty, ungrammatical Mrs. Jarley, her like was never seen before in our smoky city, and even Dickens, vain as he was of his characters, must have been satisfied with this one, had he seen and heard her as she rambled on through her lecture, now dilating on the wondrous beauty of Lady Jane Grey, now shocked at the atrocious memory of Jasper Packelmerton, now discharging a volley of contempt at Lindley Murray or instructing her hearers in ancient or modern history, illustrated by the enchanting Roman maiden, the stately Josephine, the magnificent Queens of England or the pious Aeneas.

It would be a thankless task and one which we decline to assume, to attempt to signal out the best from such a galaxy of perfection. Some might think the Beautiful Maiden pursued by the Indians excelled, others might prefer the Ruffian conquered by a Smile, or the Mermaid, the Giggler, the Prima Donna, or Charlotte Corday, but we thought each one was best as it was set in motion until the final tableau where all were in motion at once, when we gave up our attempt to particularize in an enthusiasm of despair. We hope some day to see them all again, and while condoling with those who missed this opportunity of beholding the unique exhibition last night, we think the management was somewhat to blame, for if its real character had been thoroughly explained through the press, no house in the city would have held the audience.

N. B. We are sorry to learn that the ancient Countess of Desmond when she fell last night broke a fine old patrician nose, such as are to be found only among the nobility and gentry of England, and Mrs. Jarley fears she can find no sufficiently high toned proboscis in this country to replace it.

Grand Combination Concert to-night at St. Bridget's Fair.

Free Excursion to Sale of Half Acre Lots at Braddock's this Afternoon.

At half past 1 o'clock this afternoon, a free excursion train will leave Union Depot for the sale of half-acre lots in Braddock's, immediately above, and within two minutes' walk of Braddock's Station, on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad. The train will stop for passengers at East Liberty and Wilkinsburg; leaving Braddock's at 5 o'clock on return. The manufacturing interests, and large industrial population at this point of the Monongahela Valley so near our city line, make it the most thriving centre of business around our city. The facilities of two railroads (Central and Connellsville) give to it unusual convenience for residence. The thirty half-acre lots to be sold are the finest ever offered on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, and planted in flourishing young fruit trees. Terms of sale are liberal, and this is the most tempting opportunity for investment at Braddock's which has been offered for years.

Be sure and go to the Concert at St. Bridget's Fair to-night.

False Pretences.

Andrew Howestein, of South Pittsburgh, made information before Justice Barker yesterday, charging Prof. Bymes with obtaining money under false pretences. Howenstein has been sorely afflicted with rheumatic pains for a number of years, and the professor visited him and sold him liniment which he said would cure his ills. He claimed to be a graduate of Oxford and a regularly educated physician, and stated that he had opened temporarily an office on Second avenue in this city. Howenstein was elated with the hope of speedy relief, and handed Bymes two dollars for a small bottle of the "liniment." After receiving the medicine doubts arose in his mind, and upon inquiry he ascertained that the "liniment" was horse medicine. He then visited the house where Bymes said he had an office, and found that no such person had been about the premises. He felt aggrieved and made the information as stated. The accused was arrested and held to answer the charge at Court.

Serious Charge.

Saturday afternoon a young girl appeared before Alderman Donaldson and made information against a well-known resident of Shousetown for attempting to commit a rape upon her. She is the daughter of a neighbor of the accused. He is a married man and has several children. He visited her home a few days ago, she says, when all the members of the family except herself were out, and after talking a while, he made the attempt. She ran into the yard and her cries alarmed the neighborhood, which prevented his success. The accused was arrested yesterday and gave bail in the sum of $1,000 for a hearing this morning.

VERNER STATION, A. V. R. R.,
November 28, 1870.

EDITORS GAZETTE: The sale of lots at this place to-day was well attended, about two hundred being present, including twenty-five or thirty ladies. There was fifty-five or sixty lots sold, bringing between twenty-five and thirty thousand dollars, the lots ranging in price from three hundred and twenty to six hundred and seventy-five dollars. There are five hundred acres in the tract, seventy-five of which are appropriated for the round house, shops and other buildings for the use of the railroad. The location is a good one for a town, near enough to the city for convenience and comfort. A great many employes of the railroad have purchased lots, that will build and make the town their permanent residence. More anon. CHAPULTEPEC.

RECKLESS DRIVING.

Narrow Escape of a Woman and Child.

One of the most outrageous instances of recklessness that has come under our notice for some time occurred on Fifth avenue yesterday afternoon, and came near resulting in the serious injury, if not death, of a lady and little girl, who were crossing the street.

Car No. 25, on the Oakland and East Liberty Railway, was coming into the city, and when reaching the summit beyond Logan street it started down the grade at a very rapid rate of speed, much too rapid for a light vehicle, let alone a heavy lumbering street car, and when opposite Logan street a wagon, attempting to cross the track, was run into. The pole of the car ran over the top of the car, and almost knocked the driver from his seat. The car driver was not satisfied with his recklessness so far, but as soon as the wagon pulled out of the way he started his team again, faster if possible than before, and at the mouth of Elm street a lady and a little girl, who were crossing the street were struck by the horses and knocked down. The child was knocked off the track, but the lady fell with both legs across one of the rails. The driver, reckless as he appeared to be, had sense enough to put the brake on the car, and locked the wheels so tight they did not revolve. The rate of speed at which the car had been running made it impossible to stop, and the wheels slide along the track for some fifteen or twenty feet. As the wheels did not turn when they came against the woman's limbs instead of running over them they were shoved off the track. Her clothing caught and she was dragged some distance by it. Fortunately neither the lady or child were severely injured, it was, however, a very narrow escape.

Such reckless driving should not be indulged in under any circumstances, and least of all with street cars.

THE WEATHER.

Indications by "G. A."

The Record from October 24th to November 22d, exhibits cloudy and variable nineteen days: rain and snow, ten; clear, eleven; frosts, eight; thunder showers, one day. Average daily thermometer in 1869, 36 deg.; average in 1870, 46½ deg.; average river depth 3½ feet. The lunar month has been remarkable for evenness in the temperature of the atmosphere, gradually lowering with the season; without any sudden or great contrasts, as show in the greenness and vitality of the grass, common to August or September. This accounts for the absence of prolonged rain or snow storms. The indications of the coming month promise pleasant white frost, smoky or foggy mornings, and temperate for the season with sunshine days. The greatest contrast in the temperature will be between the morning and noon. A high (18 feet) river is not likely to come before the 20th of December, unless some unusual phenomena should produce one. If there should be a sudden change to a hard freeze, with the thermometer ranging from 35 deg. to 20 deg. in twelve or eighteen hours, then a heavy storm may take place. The winter, by gradual increased cold, may set in about January 1st. If so, it will continue cold and regular except at the time of January and February thaws.

INDICATIONS

From November 23d to December 23d, seventeen cloudy and variable days; ten rain and snow: twelve sunshine days. A pleasant and temperate month for the season.

The Blind Preacher.

It is said that when Rev. W. H. Milburne was in California lecturing, the people were so enthusiastic about him that they used every effort to retain him among them on the Pacific slope. One congregation of Ethiopians even went so far as to offer him a salary of $6,000 a year in gold, a parsonage and a curate, if he would become their pastor. But the blind orator resisted all the glittering temptations, and said he would prefer wandering over the country, occupying the rostrum instead of the pulpit, because he could see more in that way, and besides he did not think a blind man ought to have charge of a parish. It may be true that he could not attend all the manifold duties of a parish, but as an orator he has few, if any, equals.

TO THE RUPTURED.

Why People Complain of Trusses.

The reason is obvious to many persons that it wholly arises from ill-fitting and ill-adjusted instruments, and in many cases no Truss is needed but frequently does harm. It is not generally understood by those who require Trusses that their adaptation and fitting requires skill and scientific knowledge fully as much as it does to prescribe proper medicines for the cure of diseases. Much injury is done to persons by ill-fitting Trusses. A Truss should never be fitted by any person not thoroughly qualified in the anatomy of the human body, but especially in the anatomy of the parts concerned in the production of a Hernia or a Rupture; for it ought to be apparent to every one that such knowledge is absolutely necessary to every one who undertakes the treatment of Hernia, whether by an operation or by an application of an appliance to retain the protruding part. We have often seen persons who have purchased as many as half a dozen trusses without getting suited, a circumstance that may reasonably be expected when one attempts to know more of his own system than one who has devoted the greater part of his life to the treatment and management of such maladies.

If any one will ask himself the question why it is so many persons suffer in this way and fail to get relief, the question is readily answered that they call at the store of some dealer in these articles and, hit or miss, they make the application, selected from a number before them, without knowing whether it will answer the purpose intended or not. What we say about Trusses is measurably true of other appliances, such as Shoulder Braces and Supporters worn by females for weaknesses and infirmities to which their physical organizations are prone. Applied by Dr. KEYSER, at his Great Medicine Store, No. 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure

Is the best remedy for Lung Diseases that has ever been compounded. We believe, besides, that if we could make that fact known as we know it, we could not supply the demand for the Lung Cure, much less give the necessary attention to the patients that would throng our office. We feel satisfied that we state nothing but plain unvarnished truth. If it be asked us whether we never use any other treatment but the Lung Cure, we answer most certainly do, but we at the same time the use of one bottle of Lung Cure will convince any one of its efficacy more than anything we can say or write, as most people are convinced more by their own experience than by any other means in the world—we find this the case in our daily experience. Most of our patients are those who have been recommended to us by persons that we have cured, some of them reaching back through a considerable period. If you ask the question then, How is it that so many die of pulmonary diseases? I answer, nearly all of them put off treatment too long. Every one of them, or most of them, to speak more guardedly, could be cured in the incipiency of the disease. We have seen this thing done more than a hundred times, not only in simple cases that would have ended disastrously, but in marked and bad cases of Lung maladies.

We have had patients brought to our office and have visited them at their houses, who have recovered after their friends had deemed them almost hopelessly beyond the reach of cure. We wish to impress upon the reader the important truth that consumption of the lungs is not necessarily the fatal disease that it has mostly been made out to be. If you attend to it in time it is nearly if not altogether, as manageable and curable as any other disease of the human body. Do not misunderstand us. We know the difficulty of healing a spongy texture like lungs. We take into account all this in their treatment and in the management of the cases that come under our guidance and direction, and whilst our heart is often made sad, over cases brought to our notice, of a hopeless and incurable character, on the contrary, it is often gladdened by recoveries, which, under ordinary treatment, would never have taken place.

Price $1.50 per bottle. If your druggist does not sell it, send Five Dollars to Dr. Keyser and he will send four bottles with full directions by express. Address,

Dr. KEYSER, Pittsburgh, Pa.
